Fifteen Bodies Found

Crash Victims Floating With Wreckage

HONOLULU (AP) — Fifteen bodies, all shoeless and most with lifejackets from the lost airliner Romance Of The Skies, were picked up Thursday from an 11 by 3 mile debris-scattered area of the Pacific 955 miles northeast of here, the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea reported.

All of the bodies had external injuries and multiple fractures, the report said. It said the cause of death was considered to be from extensive injuries and fractures.

The carrier said it had a flotilla of small boats recovering and delivering bodies and bits of debris to its decks.

The fact that most of the bodies were shoeless and had life jackets led to conjecture that the big Pan American Stratocruiser had tried to land in the sea after its last message Friday. It seemed obvious its 36 passengers and 8 crew members had been able to start standard ditching procedure.

Scattered

The Philippine Sea reported the bodies and debris apparently had been scattered by drift. Helicopters were assisting the boats in locating the corpses.

The carrier's radar-equipped planes were closely searching over an area 100 miles square for further wreckage of the Stratocruiser.

The Pan American Stratocruiser, with 44 persons aboard, vanished silently last Friday afternoon on a routine flight from San Francisco for Honolulu.

The greatest search in the peacetime history of the Pacific followed.

Rear Adm. Thomas A. Ahroon, task force commander aboard the Philippine Sea, indicated he planned to return the bodies and recovered wreckage to the carrier's home port, Long Beach, Calif.

Navy headquarters received a message from the chief of naval operations instructing the Philippine Sea to preserve remains of the bodies by refrigeration without embalming, at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and Pan American Airways.

The message said embalming could interfere with pathological examination.

A spokesman said there was no chance of locating the plane in the 16,500 foot depth estimated for the spot if the big Stratocruiser sank.

Gordon Man Dies In Iowa Car Mishap

WEBSTER CITY, Ia. (AP)—William F. Pfeiffer, 67, Gordon, Neb., was killed late Thursday afternoon in a car-truck collision at a gravel road intersection 5½ miles northwest of Stanhope.

His car and a poultry truck driven by Larry Holbert, 40, of Stratford, collided at the middle of the intersection, Hamilton County Sheriff E. R. Lear said.

Holbert was not seriously injured, but was hospitalized at Webster City.

Pfeiffer was on a visit to the home of a sister in the Stanhope area and was 1½ miles away from his destination when the accident occurred. He was planning to attend funeral services for another relative Friday.

It was Hamilton County's 15th traffic fatality for the year.

Hardison To Succeed Godman Base Commander To Go Overseas

Col. Felix M. Hardison will succeed Col. Henry C. Godman as commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base in early December when Col. Godman leaves for overseas assignment.

Col. Hardison, at present is 818th Air Division director of materiel. He has also served as deputy commander of the 307th Bomb Wing since he was stationed at the Lincoln base in August, 1956.

The newly-announced base commander came to Lincoln from a three-year tour of duty in England where he served as base commander of the Brize-Norton Air Base near Oxford.

Col. Hardison is a command pilot, having flown 64 combat missions in World War II and served in the Far East, Southwest Pacific and Europe.

The Hardisons have three daughters.

Col. and Mrs. Godman will leave the Lincoln base about Dec. 4 for Washington, D. C. where Col. Godman will attend a six-month Foreign Service Institute languages course in Spanish.

Col. Godman has served as base commander since September, 1956, and has been stationed at Lincoln since Nov. 1954.

He served as Gen. MacArthur's first military pilot and was stationed in the Philippines at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack by Japan.

Godman later served on MacArthur's staff again from 1948-51 in Japan. From there he went to the Pentagon for three years in Washington, D. C., where he was assistant for programming at USAF headquarters.

He attended Stanford University and entered the service in 1936. Col. Godman became Gen. MacArthur's personal pilot when the general set up headquarters in Australia after the Japanese overran the Philippines.

Appointment of a replacement to Col. Hardison's position with the 818th Air Division is still pending.

U.N. OKs New Talk On Arms

. . . Deadlock Eyed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations called Thursday for new talks to break the disarmament deadlock despite the Soviet Union's announcement it will refuse to take part in them.

By a vote of 56-9 the 82-nation General Assembly approved a Western resolution asking for new negotiations in the five-nation U.N. Disarmament subcommittee with priority given Western proposals.

Only the Soviet bloc opposed the resolution. Fifteen nations abstained and two were absent.

But the Assembly will meet Friday to consider a proposal for enlarging the U.S. Disarmament Commission, submitted in the hope that the Soviet Union will change its mind on walking out on future negotiations.

Canada and Japan introduced a resolution supported by the Western powers calling for addition of 10 new nations to the Commission — the parent body for U.N. disarmament negotiations.

Won't Attend

The Soviet Union made clear it has no intention of attending any more meetings of the subcommittee, made up of Britain, France, the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union.

It has indicated a willingness to accept an enlarged commission, provided the countries added give the commission a more satisfactory makeup in the Soviet point of view.

The Russians say an enlarged commission could set up subcommittees where additional negotiations are possible.

Outside the Assembly a move developed to add more countries to the 10 already proposed. Informal sources said the Russians might be satisfied if Egypt, Poland and Mexico were added to the list.

Eighteen of the 21 Latin American countries decided at a secret meeting to offer an amendment proposing the addition of Mexico.

Population Of U.S. Rises 14% Since '50

WASHINGTON (AP) — The population of the United States rose to an estimated 172,069,000 as of last Oct. 1, the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

That is an increase of nearly 21 million, or 14 per cent, since the last census on April 1, 1950. It also represents an increase of 3,041,000 or one and eight-tenths per cent since Oct. 1, 1956.

The census breakdown showed 857,000 members of the armed forces serving overseas on Oct. 1, compared with 882,000 on the same date last year.

Queen Comes Out In A 'Sack' Dress

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II came out in "The Sack" Thursday—but brought along a black lamb muff to lend a balancing note on the old-fashioned side.

The royal version of the new dress style was in tomato colored wool. It had collar and cuffs in black lamb and the muff in the same materials.

The Queen carried the muff like a shield, holding it in front of her in a way that distracted from the loose-sack-like drape of the new costume. She wore a close fitting hat of silk velvet to match her sack.

John O'Rourke Signs Statement

Illinois Crime Confessed By Prisoner Who Escaped With Forged Pass

By JACK POLLOCK
Star Staff Writer

A Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, who earlier this month walked out of the Pen using a forged gate pass, has confessed to the murder of a taxi driver in Calumet City, Ill., according to Capt. Harold D. Smith of the Nebraska Highway Patrol.

Capt. Smith late Thursday announced that John J. O'Rourke, who he said had served two previous Illinois prison terms on charges of assault to kill, had signed a confession Tuesday after an all-day interrogation.

O'Rourke claimed he thought he was going to "beaten and robbed," officials said.

He had been identified Tuesday by four witnesses as the man who shot 40-year-old Kenneth Parrish in a Calumet City night club on Aug. 5, according to Sgt. Walter Maciejewski of the Calumet City police department.

Maciejewski and the four witnesses arrived in Lincoln Monday for investigation in the case.

Capt. Smith said details of the confession were withheld until Thursday so he and Sgt. Maciejewski could "pick up further evidence and information at Lexington and North Platte."

Parrish was waiting in a Calumet night club waiting for collection of some fares from girls who worked at the club. A lone patron remained, nursing a beer, Maciejewski said.

Co-owner of the club, Felix Centracchio, told the man to "drink up and leave." As the owner turned around, the patron got off the stool, said, "Wait a minute, sucker," pulled out a .32 automatic and fired at Centracchio.

The bullet struck Parrish in the left side of the cheek, killing him instantly.

Admits Shooting

In his confession, O'Rourke admitted shooting the cab driver but said he fired when he thought he was going to be "beaten and robbed," according to Maciejewski.

The Calumet City police officer quoted O'Rourke as saying he left Chicago the next day "for Mexico," but refused to answer questions as to his means of travel. It was in Nebraska, two days later, that he forced the airman from his car at gunpoint and drove off with the car.

Safety Patrol records showed that O'Rourke served prison terms in the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet in 1949 and 1943 on charges of assault to kill.

'Nonchalant'

Maciejewski said the Chicago man showed "no signs of remorse" and was "nonchalant" at the time of the signing of the statement Tuesday.

Maciejewski said he would present his evidence to the state's attorney of Cook County and that further word on possible extradition of O'Rourke would have to come from that office.

The Calumet City officer credited the Nebraska Safety Patrol with solving the case, adding, "It's one of the most efficient and co-operative law enforcement bodies in the country."

Ten-Year Sentence

O'Rourke was sentenced to 10 years in the Nebraska prison Sept. 17 for the highway robbery of an airman near North Platte. He was stopped at a roadblock after Safety Patrolmen shot out the rear tire of his car.

It was use of the word "sucker" in both the car theft and in the Calumet slaying that helped connect the two cases, Maciejewski said.

Testimony at O'Rourke's trial disclosed that at the time of the robbery, O'Rourke told the airman, "I haven't time to fool around with a sucker like you, I'm wanted for murder in Chicago, Ill."

Investigation showed that the man who killed taxi driver Kenneth Parrish had used the terminology "sucker," too.

O'Rourke said he threw the gun away that he used in the holdup after he took the airman's car. He told patrolmen he had served prison sentences in Illinois and a six-month term in California, being released in the latter state last April 3.

Said Story False

At the time of his arrest he said the story he told the airman of being wanted for murder in Chicago was false.

Checking the authenticity of O'Rourke's statement about a Chicago killing, the Safety Patrol found there was nothing confirming it in Chicago proper but continued an investigation into the Chicago suburbs.

Two weeks ago, according to Capt. Smith, the Calumet City police notified the patrol of a night club slaying Aug. 5. Calumet City is about 22 miles south of the Chicago Loop, about two miles southeast of the Chicago borderline.

The Patrol then forwarded O'Rourke's "picture and information," which included the use of the word "sucker." At Calumet City, the night club bartender and two co-owners identified O'Rourke as Parrish's slayer, Capt. Smith said.

Ike Pledges His Aid To Civil Rights Unit

. . . Meets Reed At White House

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Thursday placed the "resources of his office" at the disposal of the Civil Rights Commission which he has appointed under chairmanship of retired Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed.

Reed told newsmen this after a half-hour meeting with the chief executive at the White House.

The chairman-designate said the conference was a "preliminary meeting at the President's request" in preparation for an anticipated session of the six-member commission "sometime in the near future."

Reed said he thought the President would call the entire group together for its first meeting in mid-December.

He told reporters that Mr. Eisenhower asked him to recommend an executive director for the commission and that he promised "to think over" a list of possibilities.

Reed said he did not suggest anyone specifically for the post because this would be a matter to be taken up first by the entire commission. Reed and the other members, along with an executive director, must be confirmed by the Senate.

The ex-justice said that he assumed the "White House resources" which Mr. Eisenhower referred to were operating funds and a headquarters location for the group.

He said that the commission would "work actively, and I hope successfully, on various aspects of the difficult problem of civil rights." He said this would involve "not only integration and segregation but other aspects of civil rights as well, like freedom of speech."

When asked which civil rights problem he considers most pressing at this time, he replied: "There are so many that there is none which I would single out."

Asked if he discussed the Little Rock, Ark., integration problem with the President, Reed said: "I said, 'I trust the Little Rock situation will not be repeated.' I don't think he said anything."

Reed said his commission's task "of course is not going to be an easy job."

In another development, Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) urged that the Senate vote promptly to confirm the new six-man Civil Rights Commission without first sending the nominations to the judiciary committee for possible opposition or delay.

But his suggestion that southern Democrats on the Judiciary Committee might try to sidetrack President Eisenhower's commission nominees was challenged by Sen. Joseph P. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), a committee member.

O'Mahoney told a reporter: "I don't think anyone should be borrowing trouble about a thing like that. I think there will be no difficulty in our committee about confirmation of this group."

I don't think there will be an inclination to prevent confirmation, or to attempt to prevent confirmation."

Prototype Of Hallam A-Plant Dedicated

AEC Head Strauss Speaks At Ceremony In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission Thursday dedicated this country's first non-military nuclear reactor designed and built exclusively to produce commercial electric power for civilian use.

The reactor, an experimental sodium-cooled power plant and a prototype for one to be built at Hallam, Neb., at Santa Susana, 30 miles northwest of here. Its power will flow into the system of the Southern California Edison Co.

Strauss said that by the mid-1960s "there are expected to be some 18 or 20 nuclear power plants serving homes and industries across our nation."

As Strauss spoke, splitting atoms produced heat generating 7,500 kilowatts of electricity sufficient to provide power for a community of approximately 2,000 persons.

"These plants will represent a total investment of close to a billion dollars," he said, "with a large proportion of that sum to be supplied by industry itself. In fact, planning or negotiation has already been announced for eight large plants to be financed entirely by private capital."

"Valuable Technology"

He said "valuable technology obtained in the design, construction and operation of this experimental reactor will be used for the building of a commercial-size nuclear plant of this same design, but with a power capacity 10 or 12 times greater."

"The full-scale demonstration plant," he said, "will be built for the Consumers Power District of Nebraska, which will provide the site for the plant, build its conventional turbogenerator facility and contribute some five million dollars toward the construction of the nuclear portion of the plant."

"It will be a partnership enterprise between the government and Consumers, but Consumers will operate the entire plant."

Strauss said the plant will be completed in 1962 or 1963.

The AEC chairman said that "at the present stage of the nuclear art, experiments on advanced reactors on the scale of 12 inches to the foot—that is to say full-scale experiments—are not warranted."

"Research First"

"First," he said, "must come study and research, followed by experimental plants such as this one, and following that the building of 'first generation' prototype or demonstration plants of commercial size."

The AEC worked on the Santa Susana project with Southern California Edison, Atomic International and its parent organization, North American Aviation.

Strauss said their contributions, "both financial and technological, and their vision and faith in the atomic future are in the finest tradition of American industrial enterprise and ingenuity."

"In generations to come," he said, "when those who follow us look back to these primitive years of the nuclear age, I feel sure that they will find today's eventful record as a benchmark along the trail of achievement that began in 1951, when the world's first usable amounts of nuclear electricity were produced by another U. S. experimental reactor at Arco, Idaho."

Piggy Bank Stolen; Sergeant, 23, Booked

A 23-year-old staff sergeant at Lincoln Air Force Base is in jail in connection with the theft of a piggy bank at 650 No. 27th, police reported.

The owner estimated the bank contained more than $9. The sergeant admitted stealing the bank, police said, contending there was only about $2 in it.

He was booked on an open charge, according to police records.

C. M. (Barney) Pierson
C. M. Pierson
Named U. S.
Commissioner

C. M. (Barney) Pierson, practicing Lincoln attorney since 1939, has been appointed U.S. commissioner for the Federal District Court at Lincoln.

Pierson succeeds another Lincoln attorney, Sterling Mutz, whose four-year term has expired.

The appointment was made by Federal Judges Richard E. Robinson of Omaha and Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln.

The main job of the U.S. commissioner is to conduct preliminary hearings and fix bonds in criminal cases.

The commissioner also has the power, when designated by a federal judge, to hear minor offenses where the maximum penalties involved are a $500 fine and/or six months in jail.

The commissioner serves on a fee basis. Pierson will continue his regular law practice.

Pierson, a University of Nebraska law graduate, is a member of the federal, state, and local bar associations and a past president of the Lincoln Bar Association.

Prominent in Republican circles, he is master of Lincoln Lodge No. 19, AF & AM, an elder of First Presbyterian Church and member of the Lancaster County Board's citizen's committee to establish a code of ethics.

75 Tiny Babies Die In Slav Hospital

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Seventy-five newborn babies have died from an infectious disease since Oct. 11 in a gynecological hospital here, it was reported Thursday night.

The hospital was temporarily closed a few days ago after health authorities discovered the epidemic.

About 400 babies are born in the hospital each month. An investigation showed some staff members are suffering from an infectious virus disease which, investigators claimed, is responsible for the babies' death.

LEOPOLD TO HAVE REHEARING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — In a split decision, the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board Thursday granted a rehearing on the petition of Nathan Leopold for a parole.

The board, which had put off a decision in the case for two months, set the hearing on the 52-year-old thrill slayer of Bobby Franks for the February docket, without definite date.

Leopold, who has been in Stateville Penitentiary for 33 years, was unsuccessful in two previous attempts for rehearing. The board had been studying what Leopold called newly revealed circumstances in his case.

Leopold pleaded guilty in 1924 to killing Bobby Franks, 14, and was sentenced with Richard Loeb for the crime. Loeb was stabbed to death in a prison fight in 1936.

Leopold filed the current rehearing petition after Gov. William G. Stratton in July refused to grant executive clemency.

Leopold had asked that his 85-year sentence be cut to 64 years, which would have made him eligible for parole next month.

Negro Student Is Cuffed; White Boy Suspended

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Officials at racially integrated Little Rock Central High Thursday said that a white boy has been suspended for striking a Negro boy. The incident occurred Tuesday.

The State Press, a Negro weekly newspaper, said that the Negro was severely attacked, but school and army officials said that the incident was minor.

Central Principal Jess W. Matthews said: "It was simply a case of one boy hitting another without provocation and suspension in such cases is automatic."

Supt. Virgil Blossom indicated that the Negro boy was not injured seriously, but said that he would not comment until he talks to the parents of the white boy. A suspended student normally cannot re-enter school until his parents obtain permission from Blossom or Matthews.

"Somebody came along and cuffed the boy," said a spokesman for the Arkansas Military District, "but school officials quickly took over and the boy went on to class as usual. The State Press has built the thing way out of line."

Guided Missile Bomarc Is Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said a Bomarc guided missile was test fired Thursday from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., test center. No details were given.

The Bomarc, produced by the Boeing Aircraft Co., has a range of up to 300 miles. One that was fired a few weeks ago hit a drone plane 100 miles distant.

Executed Spy's Father, Haupt, Is Deported By U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The father of an executed Nazi spy, newly released from a federal prison life's cell, was deported Thursday night to his native Germany.

The father, Hans Max Haupt, 63, took with him a violin he made in prison.

Haupt, who had spent more than 30 years in this country, can never return to it as a free man. Should he come back, he must return to prison under the life term. The sentence was commuted so he could be deported.

Haupt's son, Herbert, was one of eight Nazi agents captured in World War II after slipping ashore on the East Coast from a German submarine. The younger Haupt was executed in 1942.

The father was convicted of treason in 1944 for harboring his son.

His wife, Emma, mother of the executed spy, also was convicted of treason, but the verdict was reversed and the charges against her dropped.

Mrs. Haupt was allowed to visit her husband briefly at the immigration offices here when he was brought from the Federal Correctional Institution at Danbury, Conn.

He Got It

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gov. George D. Clyde made a vigorous speech asking for stricter enforcement of traffic laws by police and the courts.

He got it and it cost him 10 bucks. He was cited for running a stop sign in the big state-furnished limousine at what the citation described as "walk speed."

After forfeiting $10 bail the red-faced governor had his office issue a formal statement commending the officer who caught him.

2 Iowans Die

MARION, Ia. (AP) — Two Marion men were killed instantly Thursday when their car plunged into a deep ditch on Highway 94 about 5 1/2 miles southeast of here.

The victims were George Wood, 73, and Clarence Taylor, 70. Wood owned a large place known as Wood Acres near here and formerly operated the Hallwood Cafe in Marion.

Cops Arrest 50 Eastern Crime Chiefs

APALACHIN, N.Y. (AP) — Between 50 and 60 men described by state police as the "hierarchy of the eastern seaboard criminal world" were taken into custody Thursday near this small village in south-central New York.

Troopers said the group had been meeting at a "hilltop retreat."

The troopers said those picked up came from New Jersey, New York, Ohio, California, Puerto Rico and Cuba.

They included a man identified as Vito Genovese.

Chief inspector Martin F. Dillon of the state police said in Albany it was believed to be the same man once described by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as "king of the rackets."

Those from California, Puerto Rico and Cuba had return-trip plane tickets with them and all had plenty of money, the state police said.

Agents of the U.S. Treasury Department and the federal alcohol tax unit teamed with state police in the roundup.

'Hierarchy'

Sgt. Edgar Crosswell of the state police described the group as the "hierarchy of the eastern seaboard criminal world."

He said the names of those picked up were withheld on the advice of federal agents.

State police said they became suspicious on Wednesday when a large number of expensive automobiles with out-of-state licenses suddenly appeared in this village near the Pennsylvania state line.

Most of the men were picked up at roadblocks in the area where troopers said they had been meeting.

They were taken to the state police substation at Vestal for questioning. Some were released later.

State police said no charges had been filed.

Not Spotted Enroute

Mrs. Huddleston and a man identified by Cedars Home authorities as Henry apparently made good their flight from Nebraska to Arkansas without being spotted by police. Lawmen in Nebraska, Missouri and Arkansas had been alerted after Marilyn was taken. Cedars Home officials said that Henry threatened to shoot them if they interfered when the child was taken.

Mrs. and Mr. Herbert Martin, Marilyn's mother and step-father, came to Lincoln a few months ago bringing the child with them after another custody dispute in Texas. A judge there refused to turn Marilyn over to Mrs. Huddleston, who is reportedly her legal guardian in Arkansas.

A District Court hearing on the Nebraska custody rights scheduled for Thursday morning before Judge John Polk was postponed until Saturday morning when Mrs. Huddleston—who had brought the action against the Martins—failed to appear.

Attorney Withdraws

Judge Polk allowed Lincoln attorney Bryan Littrell to withdraw from the case as Mrs. Huddleston's counsel. If Mrs. Huddleston fails to appear Saturday—and it now appears doubtful she will—Judge Polk may continue the case again. Or he could dismiss the action brought by Mrs. Huddleston, which would in effect give Nebraska custody of Marilyn to the Martins.

In another development in the complicated case, Mrs. Huddleston told The Associated Press Thursday morning in North Little Rock that the man who accompanied her to Cedars Home was not her son—Henry—and that no gun was used when Marilyn was taken. She expressed the belief that Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus would not sign papers which would be necessary to extradite her to Nebraska.

Extradition proceedings are already pending in Lancaster County Court against the Martins on fugitive warrants from Arkansas officials who claim that Mr. and Mrs. Martin, took Marilyn from that state illegally. The Martins pleaded innocent to the charge Oct. 8 and were freed on $1,000 bond each.

Extradition papers asking their return to Arkansas are being held by Nebraska Gov. Victor Anderson pending the outcome of the custody hearing in Lancaster District Court.

Little Rock Police Awaiting Warrants

Abducted Child Reported In Arkansas

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

North Little Rock, Ark., Police Chief B. C. Campbell told The Star Thursday afternoon that his department would arrest James Bradley Henry and his mother, Mrs. Bertha Huddleston, as soon as child stealing warrants arrive from Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp.

Karnopp air mailed the warrants to North Little Rock Thursday morning, and postal authorities said they should arrive there about noon Friday.

Henry and Mrs. Huddleston are sought in connection with the alleged taking at gun-point of Henry's 5-year-old daughter, Marilyn, from the Cedars Home for Children Tuesday afternoon. The child was in temporary custody of the Lancaster District Court pending a hearing on a custody dispute between Mrs. Huddleston and Mrs. Herbert Martin of Lincoln, Marilyn's mother.

Told of an unofficial report that Mrs. Huddleston had left her North Little Rock home Thursday afternoon and taken Marilyn with her, Chief Campbell said that a statewide pickup order would be put out on them if they are not found at home.

(An unidentified man at the Huddleston residence in Little Rock Thursday told The Associated Press that Mrs. Huddleston and the child had left town. He would give no details.)

Not Spotted Enroute

Mrs. Huddleston and a man identified by Cedars Home authorities as Henry apparently made good their flight from Nebraska to Arkansas without being spotted by police. Lawmen in Nebraska, Missouri and Arkansas had been alerted after Marilyn was taken. Cedars Home officials said that Henry threatened to shoot them if they interfered when the child was taken.

Mrs. and Mr. Herbert Martin, Marilyn's mother and step-father, came to Lincoln a few months ago bringing the child with them after another custody dispute in Texas. A judge there refused to turn Marilyn over to Mrs. Huddleston, who is reportedly her legal guardian in Arkansas.

A District Court hearing on the Nebraska custody rights scheduled for Thursday morning before Judge John Polk was postponed until Saturday morning when Mrs. Huddleston—who had brought the action against the Martins—failed to appear.

Attorney Withdraws

Judge Polk allowed Lincoln attorney Bryan Littrell to withdraw from the case as Mrs. Huddleston's counsel. If Mrs. Huddleston fails to appear Saturday—and it now appears doubtful she will—Judge Polk may continue the case again. Or he could dismiss the action brought by Mrs. Huddleston, which would in effect give Nebraska custody of Marilyn to the Martins.

In another development in the complicated case, Mrs. Huddleston told The Associated Press Thursday morning in North Little Rock that the man who accompanied her to Cedars Home was not her son—Henry—and that no gun was used when Marilyn was taken. She expressed the belief that Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus would not sign papers which would be necessary to extradite her to Nebraska.

Extradition proceedings are already pending in Lancaster County Court against the Martins on fugitive warrants from Arkansas officials who claim that Mr. and Mrs. Martin, took Marilyn from that state illegally. The Martins pleaded innocent to the charge Oct. 8 and were freed on $1,000 bond each.

Extradition papers asking their return to Arkansas are being held by Nebraska Gov. Victor Anderson pending the outcome of the custody hearing in Lancaster District Court.

NU, City Police Nab Man, Boy, 15, On Car Prowlings

University of Nebraska campus police and Lincoln police combined forces Thursday night to solve a long series of car prowlings.

A 22-year-old man and a 15-year-old boy were spotted by campus police in a car near 17th and Northside Ave. The Lincoln police were notified of the suspicious car.

Officers approached the pair, searched the auto and found a cache of auto accessories, tools, flashlights, shotgun shells, hub caps and many other articles reported missing.

Det. Robert Sawdon could not say definitely how many offense reports would be cleared up until the case was further investigated. But he indicated that "several" offenses over a period of three months would be cleared up for certain.

The man was booked on an open charge. The boy was released to his parents pending investigation by juvenile authorities.

IMITATION IS THE SINCEREST FORM OF FLATTERY, judging by the many "new" '58 cars trying to imitate the low Swept-Wing look. But they went about it in a strange way. They cut into the windshield and "lowered" the roof, still ended up with the same high, boxy look and that old cooped-up feeling. Most still don't have push-button driving, Torsion-Aire Ride, Total-Contact Brakes or Constant-Control power steering. And their air suspension (borrowed from buses) is a costly option (costing well over $100.00 extra) that still can't compare with no-sway, no-dip Torsion-Aire which is standard on all Dodge models and costs not a penny extra. So if other '58 cars aren't advanced enough to suit you, be sure to take a good look at the Swept-Wing 58 and actually drive one. That's when you'll see that the others are catching on, but they're not catching up.

PARIS (AP)—NATO's top scientist Thursday pictured a Europe defended by nuclear missile-firing aerial and submarine platforms. Dr. Theodore Von Karman, formerly chief scientific advisor to the U.S. Air Force and currently head of NATO's aeronautical research program, told a news conference mobile bases are imperative because permanent ground installations "are beautiful targets—you can even see them from Sputniks."

But, he cautioned, these science-fiction type bases are not for tomorrow. The aerial platforms are still only in the preliminary planning stage and the underwater ones—utilizing atomic submarines—cannot come into action before 1960.

As Von Karman spoke Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium urged a meeting of the NATO Consultative Parliamentary Assembly to realize the need of member countries to stick together. He said he hoped realization of this mutual need would be crystallized in a definite program at the December summit meeting of NATO chiefs of state.

Federal-State Group's Decisions Due Today

Lincoln Star Special
WASHINGTON—The Joint Federal-State Action Committee expects to decide Friday on actual recommendations it will give President Eisenhower to submit to Congress for transferring some services from federal to state governments, Gov. Victor Anderson reported Thursday night.

One of the 10 governors serving on the Joint Committee meeting in Washington Thursday and Friday, Anderson said the group discussed states' responsibilities in natural disasters and states' rights to protect their people in the field of atomic energy at the opening session.

The group also sought more information on urban renewal and low-rent housing programs, and old age assistance programs, the governor commented.

In the matter of natural disasters, Gov. Anderson said a formula will be worked out on the minimum responsibility of each state to spend some of its own money before appealing to the federal government for help.

Expressing satisfaction with the objectives of the program, the governor said the formula would be based on the wealth and population of each state.

In the field of atomic energy, Anderson said the Committee feels the states have the right to establish protective laws for their people in this area, just as each state has law to establish safety standards in industry.

Training Necessary
He said they feel it will be necessary, however, for the federal government to provide training for those charged with protection.

Gov. Anderson said the point had been brought out at the Thursday meeting that there is misunderstanding that the purpose of the committee is to cut out these programs which he described as "not true at all."

"They will be continued at least at the same level," the governor explained, adding that the purpose is "to save the taxpayers money" by eliminating the cost of two administrations.

"We want to bring government back to the people as much as we can," Anderson stated, adding that putting these programs on the state level will make it possible to fit the pattern to the individual needs.

The Committee will further explore the return of some excise tax funds to the states at its Friday meeting, the governor said.

Gov. Anderson, J. O. Peck of Columbus, Don Devries, Dr. C. D. Edwards and W. Joyce Ayres, all of Lincoln, and Charles Thome, administrative assistant to Sen. Roman Hruska, dined at the White House Thursday evening with presidential staff members.

Other board of director members are Dr. E. R. Gish of Fulton, Mo.; Myron C. Aultfather of Austin, Minn.; Ralph Reel of Strassburg, Ill., and S. P. Burton of Ridgeville, Ind.

The next annual meeting of the club will be held next November at the Michigan State College campus in East Lansing, Mich.

LaVerne S. Russell of Battle Creek, Mich., was elected vice president.

Wendell Severin of Lincoln is secretary-treasurer of the Club.

Fitzpatrick, Russell and Elmer J. Miller of Columbus, Wis., were re-elected directors for two-year terms.

More Use Of Schools

Why it did so was not explained in the news story but the Board of Education has undertaken to explain its policy governing the use of school facilities by churches. The explanation probably stems from either criticism or inquiry or both about such a practice.

In general, a church may use school buildings for services if it is not intended as a permanent arrangement. It would be a pretty narrow-minded view to say this is wrong.

In fact, we can see nothing wrong with more and more use of the public schools so long as that use does not interfere with the primary purpose for which the buildings were constructed. To the best of our knowledge, this is the policy followed by the Board of Education in most cases, not just churches.

It would be a senseless and costly rule arbitrarily to outlaw all use of the schools for anything other than direct education. The growing opinion has been that the schools should become more of a center of community life.

A diversity of use of school buildings materially increases the return received by taxpayers on their investment in these buildings. Many millions of dollars are represented in the brick and mortar of the school properties and the more use made of these properties, the greater the dividends paid.

Whatever it was that provoked the board to explain its policy on church use of school buildings, it should not interfere with that or other uses of the buildings. Any public or semi-public use of school buildings should be welcomed and encouraged.

The group or organization using the school property is expected to reimburse the school district for the expense of opening a building for an evening or a Saturday or Sunday. The district, however, makes no profit in the process, nor is it expected to. The profit goes indirectly into the pockets of all the people of Lincoln.

Never A Greater Challenge

It depends upon whether the United States continues to be a living, leading nation, that is, whether it successfully meets the challenge of this formidable new age. But if the United States is present and doing business several hundred years hence certainly the historians in that future time will have a good deal to say about National Education Week in this pleasant fall of 1957.

The historians will pay little attention to what the educators, the PTA and the children did during the week prior to Wednesday evening, no more of that than did they concern themselves with the program of a certain meeting in Virginia prior to the moment a certain patriot in leather pants by the name of Patrick Henry arose to say "Give me liberty or give me death."

But National Education Week became a historic moment Wednesday night when President Eisenhower gave the American schools a new destiny—the most severe assignment in their history plus the greater part of the responsibility for America's survival.

The President made it sound far too easy. He said he had been advised by the scientists that the most vital step toward national survival had to be an immediate and radical change

City Science Good?

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was early in the day yet but we were still able to tell a caller that we had read the morning story on President Eisenhower's speech. Again, in answer to the caller we were able to state we had read the story on science education in the Lincoln school system. Then the caller advised us that they kind of hit right between the eyes. Which one, we asked, and were told that the facts of the two stories combined were very revealing. So, we put some of the facts of the two together and immediately saw the caller's point.

★ Significant points of the two stories are contained in just two paragraphs. From the story on Eisenhower's address, there is this paragraph: "As you do (as educational programs are reviewed), remember when a Russian graduates from high school, he has had five years of chemistry, one year of astronomy, five years of biology, 10 years of mathematics through trigonometry and five years of a foreign language." From the story on the science education program in the Lincoln school system, there is this paragraph: "Of the 1957 graduates from high school, 97 per cent had at least one year of science, 33 per cent had two years and 10 per cent had three years, Dr. Fredstrom said." Note carefully that the quote from Eisenhower contains no percentages. The amount of science taken by Russian students applies to all students, not a percentage. Note, also, the category into which most of the Lincoln high school students fall—the category where students have had at least one year of science.

★ From the story on the Lincoln system comes a direct quote from both Dr. Fredstrom and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Steven N. Watkins in which they say the science and mathematics programs here are "quite good." The statement is so ridiculous that to carry a detailed analysis of it would be an insult to the intelligence of readers. The comparisons in the two stories are completely shocking and should provoke serious and detailed discussions among both educators and parents. There are certainly conclusions to be drawn from the comparison but if there is just one that would be an affirmative answer to the title of this article it would be the No. 1 surprise of the day.

★ There, of course, were many other things to glean from the President's second address to the nation. It was interesting to note the reaction of various congressmen to what the President had to say. Unlike his first talk, this second one received a much cooler reception among the politicians. Rep. Lawrence H. Smith, Wisconsin Republican, in comment on Eisenhower's contention that more money would have to be spent on the missile and satellite program, declared flatly: "I don't buy that bill of goods. It isn't a question of money. It's a question of intelligent mobilization." That was one of the more pointed statements and represents a growing viewpoint among the public as well as the senators. The government could have all the money in the world but it would not put the U.S. ahead in the missile or satellite race unless it was wisely spent. Until the confusion, rivalry and wasteful duplication of effort in the defense program are eliminated, results from the program will continue to be negligible.

★ Sen. Dennis Chavez, New Mexico Democrat, said he hopes Mr. Eisenhower was not referring to public works projects when he mentioned that whole categories would have to be eliminated to help provide money for the increased missile program. In view of the Eisenhower administration's past record on public works, it would not be surprising if Chavez was a prophet. One thing is certain from the content and tone of reaction to the President's speech. If Eisenhower has any concrete plans to lay before the coming session of Congress, he has still not revealed them. Also, he will be pushed a lot further into detail on what he wants to do before any blank checks are written in the House and Senate.

One U.S. Answer To Red Progress

WASHINGTON — Seldom have so many beautifully gowned women danced in honor of a racetrack as waited at the international ball the other night. Seldom have so many jewels sparkled; seldom has so much wealth been paraded; seldom have so many males tried to look comfortable behind starched bosoms—all in tribute to the International Race at Laurel, Md.

Watching that gala occasion, no one would have dreamed that two Sputniks were writing warnings in the sky. No one would have guessed that anyone was at all concerned about Russia's pioneering of outer space. No one would have any inkling that Pentagon experts were going almost crazy worrying about the fact that the United States had now become a second-class power.

Prince Aly Khan flew in from Paris to see his horse race. Vivacious Elizabeth Arden, unconcerned about space problems, placed a "Mediterranean" lipstick at every place on the dinner table. She sat near Clare Boothe Luce, the ex-ambassador to Italy, who looked demure in a gray lace gown with an emerald-diamond necklace, and who tossed the dice at a miniature horse race.

Clare and her Time-Life-Fortune publisher husband, Henry Luce, were entertained by State Department protocol chief Wiley Buchanan, who married the Dow Chemical fortune and became Ike's recent ambassador to Luxembourg. Mrs. Edsel Ford, for whose late husband the new "Edsel" was named, featured white fox furs. Also paying tribute to the international horse race were Liz Whitney Lunn, whose ex-husband is now ambassador to the court of St. James; Bill Rogers, the dapper new attorney general; Mrs. Stanley Rumbaugh, the beautiful General Foods ruby-adorned heiress; Mrs. Bob Guggenheim, whose husband benefits from one of the biggest copper empires in the world; and Lord Howard de Weldon, president of the British Jockey Club.

BEHIND THE RACETRACK

Proceeds from their $30-a-plate dinner went to the Children's Convalescent hospital—a worthy cause. And probably few of those present fully realized that the backstage organizer of the social glitter was John D. Schapiro, also bent on promoting his Laurel race-track.

And probably not one in that gala group knew that the track was built from the profits of scrap iron sold to Japan which subsequently dealt death to American troops all the way from Guadalcanal to the Gulf of Leyte.

Reds Cultivate Thirst For Science

WASHINGTON — It has been a rude shock to many Americans to discover with the dramatization of the Sputniks that the Soviet Union, supposedly backward and primitive, is graduating from two to three times as many scientists and engineers each year as are graduated from the schools in this country, which prides itself on its advanced technology.

The ready explanation is a compulsory curriculum with physics, chemistry, biology, astronomy and other sciences as required subjects from the fourth grade on. But that this is not the only reason for the interest in science and technology is shown by a study recently released into how the Soviets instill a desire for knowledge in these fields in their young people.

★ The most far-reaching organization of science clubs supplements the teaching in the schools. These are given lavish support by the government in equipment and able leaders to direct activities. The author of the study showing the varied ways in which the students' interest is stimulated and directed is Mrs. Eleanor S. Lowman, who helped prepare the lengthy report on education in the U.S.S.R. by the office of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

★ "The work of the physics clubs may be experimental — in radio, aviation, electricity, the remote control of machinery and other subjects of interest to young experimenters. Or it may involve members learning research techniques through the preparation of papers on the history of physics or the compilation of digests of the more popular accounts of current physical theories. When charts, models or pieces of apparatus made in these clubs are found to be of use in the regular school classrooms they are manufactured for mass distribution or suggested for duplication in other schools."

★ Other clubs also supported by the state are organized for sports, drama, literature, art, music, dancing, photography, agriculture, mathematics and journalism.

★ The groundwork for this interest is laid in the primary school curriculum in grades 1 to 4 for children from seven to 10. They are taught a great deal about nature, natural resources and conservation in these early grades. Every pre-school institution has a nature corner where plants, fish and animal pets are cared for and observed. On nature walks, the children's powers of observation are encouraged and trained.

★ In the fourth grade, instruction begins in natural science and geography. In the four-year primary school, mathematics instruction progresses from simple arithmetic to the rudiments of geometry.

★ By the time he has received his diploma from the standard secondary school — through the 10th grade at about age 17 — each Soviet graduate has had 10 years of mathematics, five of biology, plus botany, zoology, anatomy, physiology, the principles of Darwinism and a sixth year of general psychology, four of chemistry, one of astronomy and five of physics.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

City Dog And The Rural Life

By MONA B. PARKER

A. H. Morton, editing the Banner Press at David City, had no comment on his own estimated ability as a newsman. However, of one thing he is firmly convinced. Namely, that he would make a very poor farmer . . .

The uncertainties of weather being what they are, the farmers for the past few years looked toward the sky with a prayerful hope for rain. "Now they gaze at the heavens and get rain in their eyes." And the farming man is constantly the target for criticism because of this concern over the weather, something Mr. Morton thinks is his right and privilege to be perturbed about.

"If it doesn't rain, and rain at the right time, he is out of luck. If it rains too much at the wrong time, he again takes it on the chin. If the sun doesn't shine when needed, more crops are lost. If the frost arrives too early or too late, Mr. Farmer will take a terrific loss. To add insult to injury, when the tiller of the soil is fortunate enough to have a perfect growing season, they tell him he has raised too much . . ."

★ Another problem on the farms these days, according to Howard Hamilton of the Nebraska Signal at Geneva, is ferreting lost hunters out of the cornfields. A new series of signs was suggested by one farmer who claims three hunters became lost in his cornfield on Saturday, and he found them the following Tuesday when he made a few runs through the field with his picker.

★ The suggested sign: "Do not enter field without compass."

★ Many fields have been posted to protect the bob white quail, but some hunters have ignored the notices. The Comstock News would be in favor of suspending licenses for a year or two for such offense, since it is the few trespassers who make it tough for the many law-abiding nimrods.

★ Art Henrickson of Kimball isn't too disillusioned about his deer-hunting prowess. He got his deer, "but it was only because one happened to step in front of our rifle while we were spraying the countryside with lead."

★ E. L. Cline is a little old-fashioned and doesn't care who knows it. Back in the days when people

Sam is a big boy in his own right, but the children of Morrill look up to him for other reasons. The dog, now a year old, stands five feet and three inches on his hind feet, but no one knows his weight because the Cawthras, his owners, can't get all of him on the scales at once. He has been known to frighten magazine salesmen into departure merely by appearing on the scene. However, the little folks know Sam for what he is—their staunch defender and friend. Morrill mothers don't dash approach their erring offspring with stick, fly swatter or a cross look but what Sam uses his monstrous bulk as interference. Also, says the Mail, he has even occasionally made his displeasure known by a nip on "any reachable spot. So the kids shout hooray for Sam, and the mothers keep a weather eye out for him before they decide to pound on Junior."

★ were driving horses, says the Beaver City editor, they weren't working the first four months of every year to pay their taxes, nor were they "worrying about some clown unseen and thousands of miles away, bouncing a guided missile off their noggin." While he doesn't want to go back to horse-and-buggy days, he isn't "particularly anxious to have our gourd knocked off, either."

★ Norris Alfred of Polk spent some time around Lisco and Broadwater during the deer season, rode over the countryside in a jeep that would go anywhere—through soft sand or up a steep hill—and was much impressed both with the country itself and the people who live there. So much so, in fact, that "when this writer retires, he is going to buy a section of range land, fill it full of range cows, and enjoy living in western Nebraska."

BOB CONSIDINE

Russian People Hail Red Success

MOSCOW — If you had been in Moscow Wednesday, the paper you would have read would not have been The Lincoln Star, but the one and only Pravda, circulation in the millions, maybe two, maybe five — the figures have never been released.

You would not have had to wade through pages of enticing advertisements, comics, features, columns, Hollywood and Broadway chatter, how to construct a do-it-yourself oceangoing yacht. Pravda is made of sterner journalistic stuff. The lead that day was headed with "New Patriotic Feelings Of Masses On The Occasion Of The Anniversary Of The October Revolution."

★ A speech of Nov. 6th by Comrade Khrushchev, the article explained, had aroused new bursts of love for the motherland and production of things needed to make her greater.

★ Muscovites thrilled to learn from their favorite paper that miners of the Kazakh district of Kazakhstan republic had already fulfilled their allotted plan for 1957 and had decided as a result of the speech to add 25,000 tons of coal to the state's pile.

★ Workers in two Kiev plants in the Ukraine, the Lenin foundry and the Red excavator assembly plant, accepted new obligations after hearing Khrushchev on their plant radio.

★ Workers at the latter plant built 67 extra excavators the day after the speech, promised to step up production to 75.

★ There was a four-column cut on the front page showing an attractive girl in overalls addressing a crowded plant of workers at an unidentified ball-bearing factory. Beside the Pravda masthead overhead, and nearby was the legend: "Grand are the achievements during the existence of the Soviet Union. Building of our socialist society gave great economical and policy changes to our country. Understanding of our people ever grows for, as members of the socialist democracies, they rule governments themselves. The next task is onward to Communism — the great idea of this century." ### Ike Runs Into Reluctant Demos

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is now on notice that he must get his own space-age ducks in a row.

★ Adlai Stevenson's view that he cannot help the President formulate policy is unreservedly popular in the Democratic party. Many influential Democrats feel that Stevenson was a little extra generous in promising to consult on the Eisenhower program as it develops.

★ Their argument is that the President was elected largely on the basis of his military competency and that it is fair to hold him to account for the present situation and to demand a program from him. That program, they promise, will be judged on its merits and not politically.

★ In the present mood of the Democrats, it appears unlikely that any one of stature among them can be brought into the administration short of a direct personal appeal by the President. This the President still shies from; at no point in his several weeks of discussion with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles did Stevenson hear from President Eisenhower.

★ Dulles has also been unable to persuade former Representative James Richards of South Carolina to help with the immediate problems of the NATO alliance. Richards, a former chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, did not enjoy the Middle East assignment he undertook for the State Department. He is said to be warning Democrats that they are "on their own" when they work for Dulles.

★ Leading Democrats realize that

Mr. Eisenhower is peculiarly dependent upon Dulles' technical proficiency. They also feel that Dulles understands the President thoroughly. When they criticize the secretary of state for playing politics, as they invariably do, they will concede, if pressed, that Dulles is protecting his own position in a difficult situation.

★ The bare bones of that situation are no secret. The President's principal problems in foreign policy are with the Old Guard of his party; yet he is unwilling to take on the Old Guard in a showdown fight.

★ This leaves Dulles dependent on Democrats for support in foreign affairs but forbids him to challenge the Republican opposition. Dulles is a presidential appointee. On every political question he cynically sacrifices the Democrats who help him to the necessity of peace at any price with the Old Guard who opposes him.

★ Thoroughly understanding the iron realities of politics as they do, the Democrats refrain from demanding Dulles' head on a platter. They suspect they would get more of the same, only not so able. What really makes them unhappy is the knowledge that Dulles is widely unpopular abroad, though not so unpopular as Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.

★ It is much more probable that Strauss' head on a platter will prove to be the price of Democratic cooperation than that of Dulles. Strauss is the leading exponent of U.S. secrecy in military-matter matters.

Christmas Seals to support the campaign against tuberculosis were to be mailed to Lancaster County homes Friday, starting Nebraska's 50th annual Christmas Seal sale.

The campaign, which will continue through December, supports medical research and education, chest X-ray surveys, tuberculin skin testing in the schools, programs for the benefit of TB patients and their families and other work, according to Flavel Wright, president of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Assn.

On one 1957 Christmas Seal Santa Claus' face is reflected in a red Christmas ball. On the companion seal a silver ball reflects a little girl finding gifts under a tree on Christmas morning.

Yawning Crater Edges Toward Seattle Homes

SEATTLE (AP) — A grimly urgent emergency plan was devised by city engineers Thursday to build a bypass sewer line around Seattle's "Black Hole of Ravenna" — a yawning crater inching relentlessly toward nearly a dozen north end homes.

"We've got to get a line around that hole or we may lose a whole neighborhood," said James J. Robertson, assistant city engineer.

Seventy-five residents were evacuated before dawn as the giant cavern, caused by a break in the city's largest trunk sewer, doubled in size overnight.

By midday, the hole was 200 feet long, 120 feet wide and 60 feet deep, and had engulfed nearly an entire block of Ravenna Blvd., in a district of $15,000 to $20,000 homes.

The crumbling rim had reached the front steps of one house. At least eight others were endangered. All may be swallowed up.

The bypass line will be to permit workmen to reach the broken trunk sewer 145 feet below the surface and still about 85 feet beneath the bottom of the cavern pit.

Obstacles may be tremendous. When the trunk sewer was installed in 1907 workmen found quicksand that forced them under air pressure to tunnel between shafts sunk at half-mile intervals.

The crater began to open up Monday as dirt and silt sifted down into the broken sewer. It was carried away until the line finally clogged several blocks down the hillside.

Bottled like a cork, the line sent backed-up water spewing out over lowland spots in an area dozens of blocks across in both directions.

Pounding rains amounting to nearly two inches since Monday fed the overflow.

Man Killed As Civilian Plane Nearly Hits Jet

SIoux CITY, Ia. (AP) — R. E. Muma Jr., 32, a Sioux City salesman, was killed late Thursday when a civilian plane he was flying crashed after a near collision with an Iowa Air Guard jet.

Witnesses said the planes were observed close together and the private craft went into a spin and crashed near the junction of the Missouri and Big Sioux rivers near here. The jet, piloted by Lt. T. D. Robertson of South Sioux City, Neb., landed safely at the Sioux City Air Base.

Muma, an employee of the Wilson Trailer Co. had taken off from Rickenbacker Airport at North Sioux City on a flight to Omaha in a company plane. The jet was making a landing approach at the Air Guard field on the base.

Muma is survived by his wife and one daughter.

Picture OK'd

CHICAGO (INS) — Distributors of the film "The Game of Love" received a police permit for a Chicago showing of the picture.

Officials of Times Film Corp., who won a U.S. Supreme Court ruling reversing the Police Department's earlier refusal to issue a permit, began immediate negotiations with Chicago theaters to show the film.

A multimillion dollar shopping center known as University Village was threatened for a time. But sandbagging and temporarily clearing skies averted the peril.

Housewife Sees Flying Object As Power Goes Off

TAMORA, Ill. (INS) — A housewife living near Tamara said she heard a sputtering noise Thursday, then looked out her window and saw an unidentified flying object.

Mrs. John Riead, wife of a justice of the peace, said she saw a "real bright light" shaped like a full moon.

It hovered momentarily, "higher than the trees," over U.S. Highway 51, she reported.

Mrs. Riead related that she heard a series of "five or six booms" and saw three flashes of light, each more brilliant than the other. Then, she added, "the thing" disappeared and the electricity in her house suddenly went off.

H. D. Heath of DuQuoin, Ill., district power manager, confirmed that power in a four-mile area between Tamara and Dubois, and in the latter town itself, was mysteriously cut off for about 10 minutes around noon Thursday.

Heath said service was restored when an open circuit breaker was closed by workmen. He said crews inspecting all the lines in the region could find no apparent cause for the power failure. He termed the failure "very unusual."

Sailor Repudiates Brutality Charge

YOKOSUKA, Japan (INS) — A United States Marine acquitted of charges of brutality toward a fellow serviceman declared Thursday after his court-martial that 15 Leatherneck co-defendants "are just as innocent as I am."

Cpl. Dayton Dierksen, 21, of Miller, S.D., was freed by a summary court-martial at Yokosuka Naval Base, 40 miles south of Tokyo, after a sailor repudiated in court a statement charging the South Dakotan with slapping and knocking him down.

Dierksen was the second of 16 Leathernecks to go on trial. All are former brig guards at Sasebo Naval Base, charged with torturing and beating prison inmates last spring.

The first Marine to be tried Thursday, Cpl. Glenn W. Fredericks, 21, of Anchorage, Alaska, was convicted on a charge of punching a sailor prisoner in the stomach.

Fredericks was given 14 days at hard labor by the one-man summary court and was "busted" to the rank of private. He called it a "raw deal."

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

A brisk and breezy day. The long valleys are November-brown. And above them where the oak and manzanita give way to pine, there is snow on the granite Sierra.

While everybody is racing around to the moon and all the tourists are racing for Mexico, I am glad somebody is still looking for the Abominable Snowman.

A lama has come out of Tibet with some interesting information on the Abominable Snowman. He says they are 13 feet tall and sometimes eat people. How abominable can you get?

The Abominable Snowman has been lost in the shuffle of satellites and what's around the corner on Mars.

The London Daily Mail sent an expedition after him. They were armed with cameras, tape recorders, typewriters and a six-month contract from M-G-M.

This was in case they met an Abominable Snowman. Right away the lady would think: "After all maybe I am not so abominable. Or else why do they want me in the movies?"

A Texas millionaire went over to the Himalayas. Armed with options and oil leases. I guess even an Abominable Snowman would think twice if you showed him a little oil piece of oily Texas. Doesn't that make sense?

None of these expeditions have laid eyes on a Snowman.

Neither has the lama. But he got in some pretty good licks with people who HAD seen Snowmen.

He said they were 13 feet tall and have long, grey hair all over their bodies. Their heads are pointed—about 12 inches above the eyebrows. Gives them a sort of Eiffel Tower effect. Very abominable.

The Snowmen travel in groups, the lama told the London journals.

A lady Snowwoman is the leader. This is probably what makes the Snowman so abominable. All that yakety-yak and just when you are about to get going, she has to run back in the house to get her purse.

This is important news for Abominable Snowmen hunters. If Abominable Snowwomen are leading the Snow tours, it is no wonder at all they cannot find them.

A few months ago, some 90 educators, sociologists and personnel specialists held a five-day study of women at Harriman, N.Y.

That is, they started on a five-day study. Well, bless your little pointed heads, children. They wound up in two days. They couldn't figure women out at all. At the end of two days, they just gave up and went home.

Trying to track a Snowwoman, I imagine, is like trying to track any other lady.

You track her to the fourth floor dress department. Because that is where she said she would be at 2:30. Right? But what happens is she forgot her gloves at lunch and had to go back for them.

This was fortunate. For it reminded her that this was the very LAST day of the hosiery sale two blocks down the street. It worked out for the best because who should she run into—right at the counter, mind you—but Sadie.

She hasn't seen Sadie since—well, last week anyway. And by the time she gets through cutting up touches with Sadie, it is a quarter of 4.

So, why on earth did you go out on the street looking for her? When she told you plainly she would meet you on the fourth floor? Dress department. And as to being a few minutes late, it seems odd that YOU seem to get home to dinner sometimes an hour late. The roast spoiled and everybody waiting. Shaddap!

Mighty chilly up in the Himalayas, I hear.

SEC. DOUGLAS SLASHES RED TAPE

Forced Resignation
Of AF Officer Voided

... Lt. Merriman Will Give Kidney To Brother

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force Secretary James Douglas Thursday night tossed the rulebook out the window and voided the forced resignation of a lieutenant who wants to give one of his kidneys to save his twin brother's life.

The officer is Lt. Samuel Merriman, Oklahoma Air National Guard who is stationed at Hondo Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force said that when the problem reached Douglas late Thursday he expressed deep personal concern and said that under no circumstances would Merriman be forced to live up to an agreement that he would resign his commission if he became physically unqualified to continue flight training.

The Air Force had said earlier that the Merriman problem was under study but that as the young officer had been commissioned on the understanding that he would qualify as a flier, he had no choice but to resign if he underwent the kidney transplant to his twin, Billy Merriman, 26, of Oklahoma City. Merriman had told the Air Force that his brother's doctors had said Billy would die without the transplanted kidney.

The office of the Air Force surgeon general, relying upon standard but strict physical qualifications for fliers, had held that the lack of a kidney or any vital organ would automatically disqualify a man for flying.

Merriman is taking a year's training course at Hondo Base. He informed his superiors that the transplant operation was scheduled for about Dec. 1 and under the regulations which govern his acceptance of a commission, he submitted his resignation.

The resignation was accepted Thursday by the Hondo Base commander and forwarded to Randolph Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex. All resignations of commissioned officers are eventually submitted to Air Force Headquarters for final acceptance or rejection.

... By Philippine Voters

MANILA (Friday) — President Carlos P. Garcia will have Diosdado Macapagal, candidate of the opposition Liberals, as his vice president for the next four years. The nationwide Philippine News Service said its tabulations from Tuesday's voting ruled out any possibility of defeat for Nacionalista Garcia and Macapagal.

With about two-thirds of the vote counted, its latest tabulations gave Garcia 1,245,959 to 856,252 for Jose Yulo, a sugar tycoon, the Liberal candidate. Macapagal had 1,321,284 to 1,022,411 for Jose P. Laurel Jr.

Manuel P. Manahan, the Mag-saysay follower who ran for the presidency as a Progressive, sent congratulations to Garcia. Manahan had 660,000 votes.

Freedom Is Too Late For Iowa Lifer

DES MOINES — Gov. Herschel Loveless commuted the sentence of a life term prisoner Thursday so that the inmate could be released Friday, only to find later that the man died Wednesday night.

The State Parole Board identified the prisoner as Mose Simpson, 59, of Kellogg, Iowa. He had served 10 years for first degree murder in the slaying of Richard Mulbrook in a street argument at Kellogg Aug. 22, 1947.

Board secretary Russell Bobzin said Simpson was suffering from inoperable cancer. The board had recommended the commutation so Simpson could spend his last days with his family.

When Bobzin called Fort Madison State Penitentiary to arrange Simpson's release, he was told of the prisoner's death there.

Bobzin said that in a recent letter to the board from Simpson's family, a doctor was quoted as saying that Simpson had only about eight months to live.

FBI Seeks Dangerous
Ex-Convict

Man Said Going To Mississippi

WASHINGTON — The FBI began an intensive search Thursday for a 36-year-old ex-convict who escaped from a New York mental hospital last month and was believed headed for Mississippi to free his brother from a death cell.

The fugitive, wanted for questioning in the Nov. 5 killing of two North Carolina state highway patrolmen, was identified as Frank Edward Wetzel, an ex-farm hand who has been in and out of New York state reformatories and prisons since he was 12.

Director J. Edgar Hoover said the FBI was notified that Wetzel had announced he intended to go South and free his brother from the Mississippi State Penitentiary at Parchman, Miss. The brother is under death sentence for killing a fellow prisoner at Parchman in 1953.

Wetzel was described as 36 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. He has blue eyes, brown hair and a scar on the right side of his upper lip.

'Extremely Dangerous'

The FBI said he is a neat dresser and a nonsmoker. Hoover said Wetzel may be armed and "should be considered extremely dangerous."

Wetzel was sent to the Willard institution for observation after he had been charged with the burglary of a gunshop.

He escaped Oct. 21. On Nov. 4 several loaded revolvers and rifles were reported stolen from a hardware store in Barnesboro, Pa. The next evening two policemen were shot and killed in North Carolina by an automobile driver who escaped.

The automobile was found abandoned Nov. 6 in Chattanooga, Tenn. Fingerprints found in the car were identified by the FBI Thursday as Wetzel's.

Army Missile Chief Says Reds Solved Nose Cone Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency, said Thursday the Russians apparently have reached a workable solution of the problem of getting a nose cone warhead of a missile back through the atmosphere and on target.

In a news conference, Medaris emphasized that the United States Army has solved this problem with two tests using the Jupiter-C vehicle. Both tests of nose cone re-entry appear successful, the general said, although one of the cones fell too far away from recovery boats at sea and sank. Medaris also disclosed during questioning that the modification of the Jupiter-C for launching a satellite will use more than three stages of power with which the test vehicles are now equipped.

Orders

The Army has been ordered by the Defense Department to begin preparations for launching satellites with modified Jupiter-C vehicles.

The Army's role in the satellite business, said Medaris, is distinct from the Navy's Vanguard satellite project, although the same types of instruments will be used.

The Army's satellite will be cylindrical in shape, instead of spherical as in the Navy's, but will weigh about the same, approximately 20 pounds, Medaris said. The Army satellites are now being made ready at the jet propulsion laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.

Main re-entry problems have been to keep the nose cones from tumbling or burning up from heat friction as they re-enter the atmosphere from outer space.

Medaris' comments came shortly after Secretary of the Army Brucker took sharp issue with critics who disputed President Eisenhower's report that a way had been found to achieve successful missile re-entry from outer space.

Medaris said the guidance system now used on the Jupiter-C will not have to be changed for launching a satellite.

He was asked what the odds were on successful launching of the Army satellite.

"About a 90 per cent degree of probability on the first crack," he replied.

He declined to pinpoint the time when the vehicles could be made ready but said that "after a missile is completely fabricated we are not less than 30 days from launching."

Russia announced some weeks ago that she had successfully tested an intercontinental range bal-istic missile. However, some experts in this country had raised questions about whether Russia also had solved the vital problem of re-entry. Medaris' comment Thursday night was in response to a question about that.

Problem

Medaris was asked if the procedure used in bringing two nose cones back intact from launching by intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM) also would be applicable to intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM). The Air Force, which is developing an ICBM as well as an IRBM, is confronted with that problem.

Medaris replied that "I see no reason why it is not applicable to the ICBM."

To a question, he said that he believed that the Air Force knew this and that "they are showing great interest."

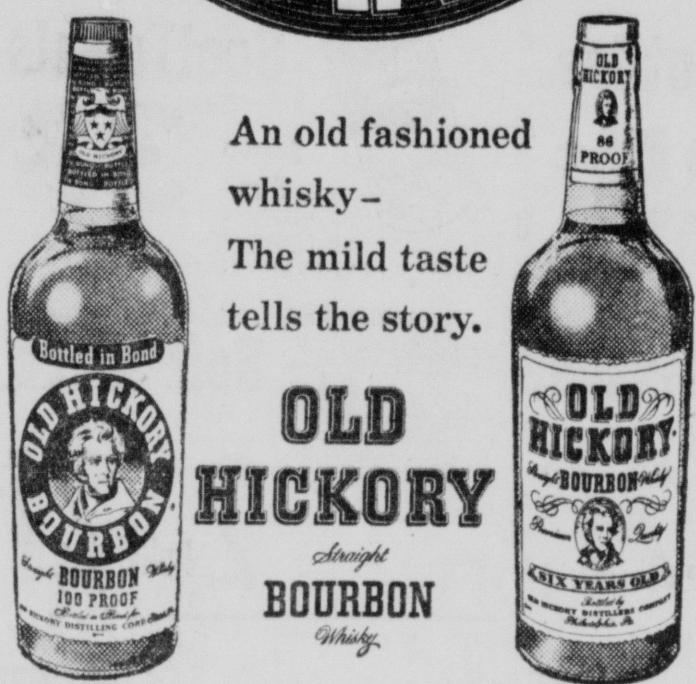

Medaris said that a number of approaches have been explored and that there undoubtedly are other ways of doing it, but that he believed the Army system is the "easy, comparatively inexpensive" method.

A reporter asked Medaris if he felt that there was competition between the Navy and the Army in the satellite program. Medaris replied sharply:

"I'm getting tired of the competition business. We are all in competition to see who can do the most for the country the quickest."

Medaris' answers to questions also revealed that he feels that he is not in complete agreement with the Defense Department, including William Holaday, missile director, about the amount of detail which should be made public. He said he was cognizant of the policy suggested by some Defense Department officials "but I have to live with my conscience" on the matter of military security.

cate alleviation of the teacher shortage—rather it looks like the shortage will become greater," Dr. Steven Watkins, Lincoln superintendent of schools, said Thursday night.

Dr. Watkins addressed 150 Nebraska school administrators who are in Lincoln for a two-day conference.

During the past year, Dr. Watkins pointed out, the University of Nebraska received 14,043 requests for teachers and had only 947 registered on the job-seeking list.

In 1956 Nebraska colleges and universities produced 1,972 teachers, Dr. Watkins said, of which 1,173 had four years of college.

45% Teach In State

Of those completing four years, 45.27 per cent took jobs in Nebraska, 22.16 per cent left the state to teach elsewhere and the rest did not accept teaching jobs.

Only three of the four-year graduates had physics majors and none stayed in Nebraska.

"In times like these we can hardly afford to ignore a fact like that," Dr. Watkins said.

Nationally 30 per cent of the 1956 teaching graduates did not enter the teaching field. In Nebraska 32.57 per cent did not teach.

Shortage Of 135,000

There was a national shortage of 135,000 teachers this fall and of those who did become teachers only 28 per cent of the men and 14 per cent of the women plan to make it their life work, he said.

Dr. Watkins said in Lincoln and Omaha the teacher turnover is 16.5 per cent, while in smaller Nebraska cities the turnover is 52 per cent in Class I and 35 per cent in Class II.

"The most important factor in retention of teachers is teacher environment," Dr. Watkins said, and he listed better salaries as the second factor.

Human Relations Emphasis

Speaking at the initial session of the conference, Dr. Frank E. Henzlik, dean of the University of Nebraska Teachers College, said the school superintendent may once have been primarily a budget and building officer, but changing times have shifted the emphasis of his job to human relations.

Superintendents, Dean Henzlik said, must not neglect the problems of school support and facilities, but they must "treat them now in terms of good teaching, good learning and good human and community relationships."

MUSIC, WINE ARE SPY'S BUSINESS ATMOSPHERE

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of articles in which confessed Soviet spy Jack Soble tells the innermost secrets of an espionage ring in the U.S., of which he was a member for 15 years.

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lett)
(World copyright, 1957, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

For Jane Foster Zlatovskii, soft lights, music and wine were strictly necessary business atmosphere.

Between stolen kisses, she collected for her Soviet bosses many of the secrets, confidences and itemized human frailties of American intelligence and military agencies in Austria and France.

On weekend affairs, when whiskey glasses were seldom empty, and her targets sufficiently relaxed and off-guard, her camera clicked during lighthearted frolicking.

In this manner, this attractive, dedicated Soviet agent obtained compromising details on the sexual, drinking and gambling habits of men whose identities were closely shielded.

Husband Helped
Her husband, George, an Army intelligence officer, showered his attention on women secretaries in sensitive U.S. agencies.

Frequently this Mr. and Mrs. spy team worked together, under my instructions, hosting parties at which they saw to it that considerable amounts of liquor were supplied the guests.

Hard-working Jane's activities were much appreciated by our bosses in the Kremlin, whose files were bulging with the voluminous reports from one of their most fervent workers.

They thought so well of one report which pinpointed certain individuals open to Russian blackmail or forced services that I was told to give her a "bonus" of $1100.

The Zlatovskis, under Jane's dominant steering, were content to do my bidding for $75 a month each—plus a larger sum for the expenses necessary to keep the parties afloat and lips loosened.

Quarreled
Although Jane and George were each aware of what the other was doing for "the cause," they quarreled.

Pan-Am Group Elects Dr. Burt

Dr. Joseph B. Burt, dean of the University of Nebraska Pharmacy College and president of the American Pharmaceutical Assn., is new president of the Pan-American Federation of Pharmacy and Biochemistry.

He also received a citation from the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents. The presentation was made at a seminar held to mark the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Wisconsin School of Pharmacy.

Schmer Named Head Of Wahoo's Chamber

WAHOO, Neb. — Robert W. Schmer is the new president of the Wahoo Chamber of Commerce, succeeding Jerome Breunig.

Other officers include Howell Roberts, vice president; and John J. Edstrom, treasurer. Lee Bronson was rehired as executive secretary.

reled incessantly over each other's love affairs. George accused Jane of carrying on with certain individuals long after their usefulness as sources of information had been pumped dry.

Jane, for her part, kept reminding George that he was an alcoholic and looser who refused to work. And, she didn't like the idea that he was taking money from her sent by her well-to-do family.

After one especially heavy drinking bout, during which each began listing illicit romances of the other, Jane angrily tore off George's shirt and scratched his face. He blackened her eyes, stripped her of her clothing, threw it out the window of their apartment, and beat her with a whiskey bottle.

Reconciliation
Jane sought me out and sobbed out her story. I effected a reconciliation—but the fights continued at frequent intervals.

The strain of the job was having its effect on Jane. She drank martinis in large quantities all day long in an effort to relax. When she went to sleep, it was always with a large glass of brandy or gin—straight. The first thing she did on awakening, even before she brushed her teeth, was to pour herself another undiluted full glass of the same drink.

But, Jane never allowed her "private" life to interfere with her espionage efficiency.

Biographies Obtained
On June 16, 1949, Jane turned over to me in Paris for transmission to Russia detailed biographies of certain persons in the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Here is a portion of the "bonus" report from Jane I gave to Boris Morros to relay to his contact in Vienna:

"As it turned out, the Information Service Branch (of the U.S. Army) had better possibilities than I had thought. Salsburg is a small American colony and XXX (name omitted) and myself were about the only ones not working for an intelligence agency.

"I made many friends, socially, and made an effort to become well acquainted with those in the counter-intelligence corps. My closest friends were XXX and XXX.

"Through them I was constantly with their bosses and colleagues in both organizations. They either visited me at my schloss (lodge) or we went away every weekend to Austrian resorts.

Got Photographs
"In this way I got photographs (of) all members of (name of organization omitted), most of counter-intelligence corps. They all drank a great deal, and it was incredible how much they talked of their business, both in and out of their cups.

"Practically every scheme they hatched, they discussed in advance before me.

"I am sure that every move I made was reported by XXX. Knowing this, I had to be doubly careful in arranging to go to Paris, and I simply couldn't go off for an unexplained two days to Paris every other month.

"I therefore had to take long leaves, giving as my reason a desire to see Switzerland, or the Riviera, or to buy Paris clothes that I neither wanted nor needed.

"What we want—and I speak for George as well as myself. We don't care what it is, where, or how difficult—as long as it is useful."

-Rackets Probe-
EX-TUTOR
INVOKES
'FIFTH'

WASHINGTON (P-C. Don Modica, bespectacled former philosophy tutor who said he "couldn't get a job as dishwasher" now, took the Fifth Amendment Thursday when called before a Senate investigation of New York racketeering.

Modica, who refused to say whether he had tutored the children of the late Albert Anastasia and other gangsters, followed another Fifth Amendment witness—Nunzio Squillante, alleged "enforcer" of a trash collection racket.

Squillante was pictured by a Long Island department store operator as the apparent leader of a union picket crew which persuaded him to sign a garbage hauling contract with the non-union General Sanitation Co., headed by Squillante, in 1955.

Ever Heard Of It?
Squillante refused to testify about this or even to say whether he had ever heard of the Fifth Amendment which he was invoking.

Modica likewise refused to answer questions of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Modica had told staff interviewers that he was "very close" to the Anasatsia family and had been one of the first to visit the home after Anastasia was shot and killed in a New York hotel barbershop last month.

The committee counsel said "we felt that possibly the professor was the link between Anastasia and the New York City Cartmen's Association."

Education Director
Kennedy described Modica as "education director" of the Greater New York Carting Assn., operated by Vincent Squillante, brother of Nunzio, and said he also participated in meetings of the Squillante-controlled Inter-County Cartmen's Association.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) contends Vincent Squillante, an alleged member of the Mafia secret society, seized control of the organizations after a campaign of violence.

Kennedy, reading from notes he said he had made during a staff interview with Modica, said Modica had told him of tutoring Anastasia's son and the children of gangsters Willie Moretti who was slain in 1951, Joe Adonis and Vito Genovese, among others.

No Payment
Kennedy said "the professor" claimed he received no payment for his tutoring, but that the grateful parents would send him hams and turkeys at Christmas time.

Kennedy said Modica had acknowledged that he had experienced "some difficulties with the law in his younger life" but had been rehabilitated.

After the hearing recessed Modica told newsmen he was 53 and once had been an instructor at New York University, but never a professor. Asked about his nickname, he said "behind my back, it's 'the old prof.'"

Wenstrand Is State Assistant
Atty. General

The appointment of John E. Wenstrand, 32, of Lincoln, as an assistant attorney general was announced Thursday by Attorney General C. S. Beck.

Wenstrand will replace Ralph Nelson who has been named Lincoln city attorney. His appointment becomes effective Friday.

A 1951 graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law, Wenstrand was formerly employed as an attorney for the Peter Kiewit Construction Co. of Omaha, and entered private practice in Lincoln in September, 1955.

His salary as assistant attorney general will be $6,000 a year.

Wenstrand was a unsuccessful candidate for nomination to the Legislature from the 20th District in 1956. He is a member of the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce board of directors and won the state Jaycee "Speak Up" contest in May.

He is volunteer deputy director of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense and vice president of Lincoln Toastmaster Club 403.

A native of Lincoln, Wenstrand is married to the former Mary O'Donnell of Lincoln, and the couple has one daughter, Ann, who is 2½ years old.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

By DIANE GEIER

Lincoln High had an unusual treat Nov. 1 as school was dismissed at 2:45 and Lincoln High played Omaha Tech at 3:00. Afternoon games are a rarity and this is the first one Lincoln High has played in many years. The final game of the season was played against Lincoln Northeast last Friday night.

The Lincoln High cheerleaders gave a dinner for the Lincoln Northeast cheerleaders before the game Friday night. The dinner was held at the home of Barbara Phillips.

One of the biggest projects that Lincoln High students have undertaken was the "High-Spot", our student lounge. The idea for the lounge was started two years ago by the student council when the council found there was a need for noontime recreation to handle the 1300 students during their lunch hours. Many noon activities were tried during the course of a year but none was very effective. The prospect for a student lounge began to take shape when the gym classes were authorized to meet in the Public Schools' Activities Building, which was completed last year. The former gym which were being used were built in 1915 for gym classes only. Lincoln High's basketball games had to be played away from home until the Public Schools' Activities Building was completed. Progress of the lounge has been slow but sure. Money to buy furniture was donated by the student council from the sale of football and basketball programs. Some clubs also donated money.

The furniture in the lounge is of red and black leatherette. Pieces include couches, easy chairs, straight chairs, stools, coffee tables and end tables. A concession room, which is connected to the lounge, has also proved very profitable. In this room are five machines which dispense various things from ice-cream sandwiches to candy bars to potato chips. The profits from these machines also help finance the lounge. As entertainment in the lounge there is a juke-box, cards, chess sets and there may be dancing if the students wish.

The unsightliness of this room was a problem that is now being very effectively taken care of. Knotty pine paneling has been placed on the east wall and panels of the walls have been painted. Right now the floor is being sanded and refinished.

Last year a contest for naming the lounge was conducted by the student council. A free year-book was given as first prize.

The lounge is open before school, during all noon hours, and after school.

We, at Lincoln High, are very proud of the "High-Spot" and we think it is one of the best improvements in our school. The students certainly enjoy it and it gives us a chance to relax and have fun during our lunch hours.

The senior girls are all "busy-busy" right now making plans for the Christmas teas. The time sure flies and there are so many things to do. No parties to report from last week-end so guess I'll sign off for now.

News Of The Town

IF THERE really were such an organization as a Mutual Admiration Society we would present Lincoln and Col. and Mrs. Henry C. Godman for membership—Lincoln loves the Godmans, the Godmans love Lincoln. But even the best of friends must part sometimes, and we know that it is with deep regret that Col. and Mrs. Godman leave Dec. 4, for a new overseas assignment. Col. and Mrs. Godman, however, will go first to Washington, D.C., where Col. Godman, who has been Lincoln Air Force Base Commander, will attend language school—to learn Spanish.

THE farewell courtesies for Mrs.

Godman began last Sunday when the Airmen's Wives entertained at a tea at the Service Club. And on Thursday afternoon Mrs. Godman was the guest of honor when the members of the NCO Wives Club were hostesses at a tea at the NCO Club.

On Saturday evening farewells will be said to Col. and Mrs. Godman at an Air Base Group party to be held at the officers Club—and that concludes the activity for this week—

NEXT week Col. and Mrs. Godman will share honors at a series of parties, the first of which will be dinner on Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel entertain at their home.

On Friday evening, Nov. 22, Col. and Mrs. Godman will again be honored when Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stebbins will be host and hostess at a canape party at their home, and dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

CAN'T leave the Godmans without telling you about the surprise luncheon and baby shower for which Mrs. Charles Englehart and Mrs. Thomas Powell were hostesses at the Officers Club on Thursday, Nov. 7, in courtesy to Mrs. Godman.

Security Price Tag In Doubt

Truman: Tax Hike Is Only Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and the National Security Council dug again Thursday into the question of how to shape the federal budget to the demands of space age defense.

The meeting was the second such this week and was secret, as always.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it was not possible at this time to expand on Eisenhower's statement Wednesday night at Oklahoma City about cutting down on non-defense spending to permit a considerable increase on defense.

From New York, former President Truman volunteered the advice that the only way to overcome the Russians in their scientific-military drive is to raise taxes.

"Only One Place" "You have a situation to meet and there is only one way to do it," Truman said. "There has to be a tax increase."

"The bill is going to have to be paid and there is only one place the money can come from."

Truman offered his opinion in a chat with newsmen in New York. It was immediately called premature by two senators in Washington, Democrat McClellan of Arkansas and Republican Flanders of Vermont.

McClellan said: "Before we start talking about higher taxes we ought to have some concrete definite plan and program which we don't now have. Let's get that first and talk about taxes later."

Flanders' statement: "The first thing to do is to organize the project and if this shows that additional money is needed, the Congress will provide it and the people, I am sure, will gladly submit to any tax increase that is demonstrated to be really essential."

Flanders added the thought that too often the immediate political answer to a problem is "let's give 'em another billion dollars."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said last Friday after a visit to Eisenhower that it might require another one or two billion dollars a year to finance the push to overtake Russia. Defense spending now is at the rate of about 38 billion dollars a year.

Hagerty said conferences are constantly going on to determine the size and nature of the budget which Eisenhower will submit in January for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Lincoln 'Wasn't Much' 75 Years Ago; Mrs. Moore Recalls On Anniversary

A birthday this week held double significance for Mrs. Nettie Moore of 1827 No. 57th. It was her 79th birthday and the 75th anniversary of her arrival in Lincoln.

Mrs. Moore came to Lincoln on her fourth birthday from Illinois in a covered wagon. In 1882 Lincoln "was not much of a town," she said, "only covered wagons going all over."

When she and her family first arrived they made camp on the banks of Salt Creek briefly then moved on to Waco where the family settled for about 12 years. When Mrs. Moore was 18 she moved to Gresham where she lived until 1897.

After a few years in Beaver Crossing she was married and returned to Lincoln in 1900. She has lived in Lincoln ever since.

She has one daughter, Mrs. Harry Street of 435 So. 48th, one granddaughter and one great grandson.

For 25 years, until her husband died six years ago, she made horseradish commercially. It got to be too much work, she said, so she has given up the horseradish business altogether.

Explaining that she has not been well lately, she said she passed her 79th birthday quietly in her home where she has lived for 27 years.

53 Lincoln Bus Drivers Given Safety Awards

For a 33 per cent increase in mileage without accidents, 53 Lincoln bus drivers have received National Safety Council awards.

Safety engineer Edward Reilly of St. Louis, Mo., a representative of Transit Casualty Co., presented the awards in two shifts to 53 members of the Lincoln City Lines who competed in the employee safety program.

Lincoln City Lines drivers traveled 101,516 miles without an accident during the first seven months of 1957, compared to 76,519 miles during a corresponding period last year, Reilly said.

Engraved tie clasps were presented to the men with one group receiving the awards Thursday evening following their Thursday shifts and the second group Friday morning.

Presentation of the awards also marked the beginning of another employee safety campaign, "Back the attack" on traffic accidents, Reilly said.

Too Much Black Market

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government is planning a national registry system for automobiles in Mexico. Mexico has high import duties and many cars find their way in on temporary imports and get lost through black marketing. State licensing now prevails.

JET CRASH KILLS FIVE

... Near Amsterdam

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A U. S. Air Force F100 jet fighter crashed Thursday on a Dutch army barracks at Bussum, 15 miles southeast of Amsterdam, killing five persons and injuring 15.

The American pilot bailed out and is safe, the U.S. Information Agency said. He is based at Soesterberg with the 32nd Day Fighter Squadron.

The pilot was identified as Lt. Resk M. (Sunny) Mohamed, 25, of Southampton, L. I., N. Y.

Much Damage In CB&Q Fire

Fire late Thursday afternoon at the Burlington Railroad Car Shop in Havelock did considerable damage to the paint ventilation system in the shop paint works, firemen reported.

Apparently the fire started in the blower system, firemen said, and spread to the ceiling of the paint shop. Firemen were on the scene an hour and a half.

Cause of the fire was not determined, according to firemen Thursday night.

Po Floods; Dike Holds Thousands Still Are Evacuating

ROVIGO, Italy (AP) — Po River delta floods covered thousands of acres of rich farmland Thursday night. Dozens of small villages were flooded and thousands were homeless.

But the people of Porto Tolle held back the river and sea despite big breaches in the dirt and sandbag dike around the city.

Families fled by boat and by foot while Porto Tolle's men fought on to contain the flood by building a new dike inside the old one.

City Of 23,000

Evacuation of the city's 23,000 inhabitants and 7,000 refugees from the surrounding countryside continued.

About 5,000 Porto Tolle residents had abandoned their homes by nightfall and had taken refuge in inland villages.

Thursday was the sixth anniversary of the worst day of the 1951 Po delta floods that left about 100 dead, 250,000 homeless and damage estimated at 48 million dollars.

Hockey Loop Opens Season In Pershing

Lincoln hockey fans will get their first look at two of the new clubs in the U.S. Central League Friday night when the Minneapolis Bungalows meet the Minneapolis Culbertsons on the Municipal Auditorium rink.

The faceoff is set for 8 p.m. with a hockey clinic scheduled immediately preceding the game.

League President Walter Bush Jr., of Minneapolis, was scheduled to arrive in Lincoln late Thursday to supervise final arrangements for the game, which will officially open the 1958 loop season.

Included in the league this season will be the two Minneapolis clubs, St. Paul and Rochester, Minnesota. Tentative plans call for consideration of a southern division to the loop next year if sufficient interest is shown in Lincoln, Sioux City and Des Moines. League games are slated in not only the home cities of loop teams, but also in the Nebraska Capitol City and the two Iowa cities as well this year.

The Minneapolis clubs meet here again on Saturday night. A total of 14 league games are carded for this year on the schedule which continue until early March.

The Bungalows shared the league crown last year with Rochester, each club finishing with 10-3 records.

Bungalow Leader

Captain of the Minneapolis Bungalows for the fifth straight year is former hockey pro Larry Lawman, regarded as one of the smartest players in the Central Hockey League. The loop opens its season in Lincoln tonight with the Bungalows facing the Minneapolis Culbertson team at Pershing Auditorium. The same two teams play again Saturday night in the first of seven two-game series slated for Lincoln this year.

Plainsmen Shoot For Best Mark Since '52

Nebraska Wesleyan University will be shooting for its best Nebraska College Conference football finish since 1952 when the Plainsmen entertain Midland college this afternoon.

The game will be staged at 3 p.m. at Magee stadium.

Other state college teams travel out of state for action this weekend. Peru is at Colorado State College today while Omaha University visits New Mexico A&M and Scottsbluff plays Boise, Id., Saturday. McCook and Fairbury meet today to decide the Nebraska Junior College title.

The Plainsmen can move into a fourth place tie with Kearney State in the final standings by defeating Dale Pennybaker's Warriors.

The two clubs appear to be about of even strength when seasonal records are compared.

Wesleyan stands at 2-4 in conference play and Midland has a 2-3-1 mark. Kearney has a 3-4 slate.

A Plainsman win would fashion a tie with Kearney in the final standings. A loss would mean a sixth place Wesleyan finish. Coach Keith Skogman's Plainsmen turned in their first strong offensive display of the season in a losing cause against Kearney last week. The Plainsmen racked up an impressive 321 total yards from scrimmage and gave away several good scoring chances with fumbles.

Over the years Wesleyan holds a substantial edge in football history with 22 wins, seven losses and five ties in a series dating back to 1909.

The weight chart: WESLEYAN—Average weight of line, 190.7; average weight of backs, 167.2; average team weight, 180.3.

MIDLAND—Average weight of line, 192.4; average weight of backs, 172; average team weight, 185.

The probable starters:

Buffaloes Arrive, Pronounced Ready

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

The Colorado Buffaloes arrived in Lincoln Thursday night by chartered airliner and Coach Dal Ward pronounced them fit for duty against Nebraska Saturday.

"Everyone should be able to play," Dal said. "And I hope they're more ready for Nebraska than they were for Colorado Aggies last week."

Ward surveyed the cloudy skies and expressed hope that it would be clear by Saturday.

"I wake up nights worrying about what that big Nebraska team would do to us on a muddy field," he said. "Missouri nailed us in the mud and Nebraska almost whipped Missouri."

Buff's Worry, Too
While the Cornhuskers are worrying about posting the poorest record in school history—if they lose their remaining two games—the Buffaloes are also doing some fretting.

If Colorado loses one of its remaining games—Nebraska and Iowa State—the Buffs will post their worst mark since 1950 when they wound up 5-4-1.

Good Hands
Boyd Dowler, Colorado quarterback, caught the first two passes thrown to him against Colorado State last week to run his string to 15 consecutive catches. He just missed the 16th when it was deflected. Dowler is 6-5 and weighs 209.

Top Preppers
Three Colorado backs had mighty impressive high school records. Boyd Dowler: Wyoming high and low hurdle champion, all state football, all state basketball; Eddie Dove: Colorado low hurdle champ, all state football, all state basketball; Bob Stransky: South Dakota high and low hurdle champ, all state football, all state basketball.

Ends Make Good
Colorado End Coach Ray Jenkins turned out four of the top ends in the country last year and three of them made good in the pro ranks. The fourth, Les Lotz, passed up pro ball.

Wally Merz is a Canadian League starter for Regina, while Frank Clarke is with the Cleveland Browns. Jerry Leahy landed a spot on the Pittsburgh Steelers, but suffered an injury. He's already inked his 1958 contract, though.

Captains Named

Guard Art Klein and End Bill Hawkins have been named Nebraska co-captains for the Colorado game. Both are seniors.

Klein is from Plymouth, Pa., while Hawkins hails from Beatrice.

Brede Out

End Roger Brede is the only Husker slated to miss the Colorado game.

Coach Bill Jennings said Brede was "definitely out," but that all other hands would be ready.

Coed Contest

The University of Nebraska is about to crown the "Girl Most Likely to Shop A Colorado Buffalo."

The Coed will be picked at a pep rally Friday night in advance of the Colorado-Nebraska football game here Saturday.

Contestants are expected to show up in garb ranging from bathing suits to Buffalo robes. Applause of those attending the rally will determine the winner.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

The Nebraska Cornhuskers would do well to recall former meetings with Colorado when they entertain the Buffs Saturday.

In both 1954 and 1955, the Huskers were rank underdogs against the Buffs. But they stomped the Golden Herd both trips.

The one game I recall most vividly was the 1954 contest at Boulder, Colorado was undefeated; Nebraska had beaten Iowa State and Oregon State and lost to Minnesota and Kansas State.

Strictly no contest, said the Colorado partisans. One Buff faithful remarked, "Nebraska doesn't belong on the same field with CU... We'll run you out of the stadium... It's too bad you have to play us... We're going to the Orange Bowl!"

That's exactly the way the situation looked before the opening kickoff. When the dust of battle had settled Nebraska had a 20-6 victory. The Buffaloes never knew what hit them. It was a thorough rout. And, incidentally, Nebraska went to the Orange Bowl.

This week, a battered Nebraska team—with only one win to its credit—doesn't figure to have a chance against the back-riff Buffs. But maybe Bill Jennings' club can fashion an upset similar to the ones that have dotted this heated rivalry.

Last week was another nightmare for the "pickers." This corner hit 27 right, but missed 16. Percentage for the year is .764.

Hank Aaron National MVP

Edges Stan Musial By Only Nine Points

... Schoendienst Is Third

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry "Hank" Aaron, who threw all of Wisconsin into delirious joy with his pennant-clinching home run for the Milwaukee Braves last Sept. 22, Thursday was voted the National League's most valuable player of 1957.

The 23-year-old outfielder, 20th member of a championship team to be honored in the 27 elections since 1931, won the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America award after one of the closest vote races in history. In a point-by-point struggle right down to the last of the 24 ballots, Aaron beat out Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' great star, by only nine points. Red Schoendienst, Aaron's brilliant Brave teammate, finished third, only 18 points behind.

Aaron, who shared with Musial the honor of being named on every ballot, received 239 points to 230 for Musial and 221 for Schoendienst. Willie Mays, sometimes referred to as the Giants' "one-man team," finished fourth with 174 points, and southpaw Warren Spahn, still another Brave, placed fifth with 131 points. Points were tallied on a basis of 14 for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

The power-hitting youngster from Mobile, Ala., drew 9 first place votes to 8 for Schoendienst, 5 for Musial, and 1 each for Mays and Spahn. None of the remaining 21 players given recognition received a first place vote. In fact, only Philadelphia righthander Jack Sanford, who ranked 10th, was rated higher than fourth. He received one second place nomination.

Sixth place went to Ernie Banks. The hard-hitting Chicago Cubs' shortstop, who hit 43 home runs last season, received 60 points. First baseman Gil Hodges, a .299 hitter with the Dodgers, was seventh with 54 points. Third baseman Eddie Mathews, .297 at Milwaukee, was eighth with 45 points.

Frank Robinson, Cincinnati outfielder who won sophomore of the year honors with his .322 batting average, was ninth with 42 points. Sanford, who won 19 games in his rookie season, got 39 points.

An oddity in the voting was that neither of the 1955 or 1956 winners—Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe—got a single vote.

Already established at 23 as one of baseball's foremost hitters, Aaron enjoyed a banner season in 1957, his fourth in the majors. The slender, 175-pound athlete slammed 44 home runs and drove in 132 runs to lead his circuit in both departments. His .322 placed him in a third place tie in the batting race, a title he won in 1956 with .328. Hank's greatest contribution to the Braves' pennant cause, aside from his dramatic clinching home run against the Cardinals, came in the first half of the campaign. At a time when the club was hit by an epidemic of injuries, Hammering Hank was so hot that he literally carried the Braves on his bat. At one time he appeared on the way to the triple crown (batting average, home runs and RBIs). Bob Elliott, in 1948, was the only other Brave to win the MVP award.

Permanent Honor Biggest Thrill Of Many For Aaron

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—"This was a year of big thrills for me, but I guess today I got the biggest one of all."

This was the first comment by Henry "Hank" Aaron, 23-year old Milwaukee Braves outfielder, when informed by The Associated Press he had won the 1957 National League's most valuable player award.

Aaron was told of his selection by vote of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America just before he appeared on a Chicago TV program.

"I just didn't think anybody could beat out Stan Musial," said Aaron, who led the majors in homers with 44 and RBIs with 132. The Braves' star won out over 37-year-old Musial by nine points in one of the closest votes since the poll started in 1931.

"I figured I had a pretty good year, but Stan the Man won the batting championship and the Cards pushed us to the finish," said Aaron.

"And then we had two pretty good candidates in Red Schoendienst and Warren Spahn," Hank continued. "This is a really great honor I won when you stop to consider the competition. Hitting that homer that gave us the pennant against the Cards was a great thrill. So was winning the World Series. But this award is one that sort of puts you on the honor roll permanently."

"I'm plenty grateful to Manager Fred Haney and all the guys on the team who made it possible for me to win the award." Aaron wanted to know if the American League's most valuable player award had been given. Told it had not, Hank said, "There's one player I think should get it. That's Roy Sievers of the Washington Senators. Boy, what he did with a last place club."

Players mentioned included outfielders Al Amith and Rocky Colavito of the Indians and second baseman Billy Martin and first baseman-outfielder Vic Power of the Athletics.

The new Tribe general manager said following his appointment Tuesday that he considered the second base combination as the Indians' chief problem and mentioned that he would like to obtain Martin.

Lane also talked with Paul Richards, general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, who said he was interested in Smith.

LA Ready For Bum Hijackers

Guard Rides 'Shotgun' On Petition Truck

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An armored truck with a guard riding shotgun arrived at City Hall Thursday, climaxing a last ditch effort to head off Walter O'Malley before he reaches Chavez Ravine.

Reposing in the truck were petitions signed by thousands of Los Angeles residents seeking to prevent the city from entering into a contract with O'Malley's Dodger baseball club—unless the pact is approved by the voters.

First man out of the truck was the guard who stood with shotgun at the ready and a pistol at his side as the petitions were unloaded.

Asked the reason for the bristling display of armed might, a gray haired woman on hand to greet the truck piped up shrilly:

"There are people who would give a lot to see that these petitions never reach the city clerk's office."

There was no sign of highjackers, however, and the unloading proceeded peacefully, with some 13 women vying for the right to carry a bundle of petitions past the television cameras into City Hall.

Sponsors of the referendum action claim they have 85,000 signatures on the petitions and feel confident there will be at least 51,767 valid ones among them, that being the number necessary to put the matter to a vote.

The referendum procedure gives the city clerk 30 days to verify the signatures, and if there are enough, the ordinance approving the transfer of 300 acres in Chavez Ravine to O'Malley as a site for a baseball park is automatically suspended until an election is held.

At best, the election can't be held until 90 days after it is authorized and the chances are the city will duck the cost of a special election—if one is needed—and put the issue on the ballot in the general primary election next June.

Suggestion Would Kill College Athletics—Ward

BOULDER, Colo. (INS) — Top Colorado and Denver University athletic officials Thursday blasted a suggestion by an Ohio State University faculty group to throw open the gates in aid to college athletes.

The Ohio State group suggested college athletes share in the profits derived from their performances.

CU Athletic Director Harry Carlson said:

"If colleges go all the way in the direction of unlimited aid, we would have a situation where the rich would get richer and the poor would get poorer."

Dr. Louis Breternitz, Denver University faculty athletic representative, said he did not think colleges and universities should depend on sports for income and said colleges "have gone too far already" in subsidizing athletes.

He added: "I regret we have taken the sport and old college try out of athletics. We're on the wrong track. I have voted for everything we have done (in aiding athletes) because we have to live with it, but it's been pretty hard to swallow."

Big 10 Playoff Heads Final Games For State Prep Teams

League playoffs and six and eight-man bowl games, plus several postponements and a few regularly scheduled contests, will bring the Nebraska prep football season to a close today.

The top contest is the Big 10 championship game with Grand Island at Scottsbluff. Both clubs are rated in the top 10 by The Star.

Other playoffs include West Point at Madison (Husker), Syracuse at Louisville (Southern Nebraska Eight), and Broken Bow at Minden (Trans-Nebaska).

Red Willow and Dakota City, a pair of rated eight-man clubs, will vie in the Big Brothers Bowl tonight at Hastings. The Viking Bowl at Wahoo Saturday has Prague and Wolbach in six-man ball, and eight-man clubs Mead and Emerson.

Several top games involving inter-class schools, plus some important Class B contests, are on tap. Schuyler at Columbus will settle the east division of the Central 10, with Columbus needing a win for a clear-cut championship.

The West Central 10 is also up for grabs with Aurora at Ord. Falls City plays at Crete in a game pitting a rated Class A power against the No. 2 Class B club.

Holdrege Rips Cozad In Class B Battle, 26-13

HOLDREGE—Win Peterson plunged for two touchdowns, including what proved to be the deciding marker in the second period, to give Holdrege a 26-13 victory over The Star's No. 1 Class B team, Cozad, here Thursday.

Holdrege had been rated No. 4. The upset threw new light on today's games featuring No. 2 Crete against Falls City and No. 3 Aurora against Ord.

Each team scored twice in the first quarter, which ended in a 13-13 deadlock. But Cozad quarterback Charles Bacon was injured in the second quarter, and that stopped most of the Cozad offense. Holdrege was also hampered by key injuries.

Spencer Puls scored first for Holdrege on an 11-yard reverse. Peterson got his first TD on a plunge for only one foot.

Dick Miller took a 25-yard pass from Bacon for one Cozad score, and Ron Ritterbush made it a tie game on a 45-yard jaunt.

Miami Favored To Tip Maryland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's young football team, rolling in high gear after a slow start, is favored to defeat Maryland by seven points in their game tonight in the Orange Bowl.

A homecoming crowd of 40,000 is expected.

The Hurricanes, guided by a brilliant sophomore quarterback, Fran Curci, mauled Florida State 40-13 last week and Coach Andy Gustafson said, "Our offense is clicking now the way we want it to click."

It was Miami's third straight victory and gave the Hurricanes a season record of four wins, two defeats and a tie.

Fullmer Risks All Tonight Against Rivers

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Fullmer has everything to lose and little to gain in tonight's middleweight match with Neal Rivers, a rough customer from Las Vegas.

The 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden will be the third start for Fullmer since he was knocked out by Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago, May 1. Robinson's left hook ended Fullmer's short reign as middleweight champ. He had beaten Robinson in 15 rounds Jan. 2 for the title.

Although Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, is flashing a copy of a letter from Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, to prove Fullmer has been promised the next title shot, he still is waiting.

Carmen Basilio, who in turn dethroned Robinson Sept. 23, hasn't made a move, pending a decision by Robinson on their agreement for a rematch.

Since his knockout defeat, Fullmer has beaten Ralph "Tiger" Jones and Chico Vejar by decisions. He is rated No. 2 contender in the division, ranking right behind Robinson.

Grab Postal Victory

University of Nebraska freshmen, led by Joe American Horse, won a postal cross country meet with Colgate University, 24 to 31, Coach Frank Sevigne announced.

American Horse's time for the 2-miles was 9:50.4. Gary Larson, Nebraska runner from Lincoln Northeast was second in 10:20.5. Epanchin of Colgate finished third in 10:25.

Other Husker runners were John Thompson (10:26) J. D. Schaffer (11:04) and Ron Callen (11:09).

House-Hunting Troubles Over For Willie Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negro baseball star Willie Mays got his $37,500 home Thursday after a hectic day in which the race issue raised by neighbors was overcome.

"I had several other offers, but Willie's was the first and I decided it should be 'first come, first served,'" Walter A. Gnesdloff told The Associated Press.

"The opposition from neighbors is practically all over. Some people just don't understand."

Gnesdloff said earlier that he had turned down Mays originally because heavy presser was put on him in the neighborhood.

The area adjoins exclusive St. Francis Wood in the western San Francisco hills, with a fine view looking out over the ocean.

"The people of San Francisco want him to live here so we decided to let him have it," the owner explained.

After Thursday's disclosure that Mays' offer to buy had been rejected because of his color, civic

Duck Hunting Tops In Southeast Part

There's top-notch duck hunting in the southeast part of Nebraska where hunters are scarce and ducks plentiful, State Game Commission director Mel Steen reported Thursday.

Steen attributed the high duck population to rain water basins which had not yet frozen over in that part of Nebraska.

He said hunting was fair in the northeast where some new flights of ducks had recently moved in. The southwest part of Nebraska was rated as "good" by Steen who said many limits had already been taken there, and that new flights were moving in from the north.

Frozen lakes in the Sand Hills and Panhandle areas were causing ducks to fly south.

However, Steen said duck hunting was good on the Platte, and some geese had been spotted in the river's immediate vicinity.

Non-Farm Openings Drop 15%

Warm Days Hike Ag Placements

Non-farm job openings listed by employers with the Nebraska Division of Employment local offices in October dropped 15 per cent from the September total to 6,271. In October, 1956, a year ago, Division offices received 6,049 openings. October non-farm placements declined 400 from September totals to 5,619. However, the total this year exceeded October 1956 by 250 jobs.

The drop in placements in October from September was concentrated almost entirely in manufacturing jobs, although small losses were prevalent in all other industrial categories except construction. In this field jobs filled in October totaling 1,202 exceeded the September total of 1,111 and the October, 1956, total of 966.

Farm placements in October influenced by short time seasonal demand skyrocketed to 6,010 exceeding both the September this year and the October, 1956, volume.

New registrations for work in October including 1,758 for women, totaled 4,247 up 470 from September.

Persons claiming unemployment insurance averaged 2,520 each week in October, 1957, compared to 2,500 in September 2,728 in October, 1956, a year ago. Dollar-wise payments amounted to $269,000 in October, $236,659 in September and $252,724 in October, 1956.

Labor conditions around the state:

Alliance: In October 107 persons were placed on jobs.

Beatrice: Supply of registered workers is 40 per cent higher than a month ago, but slightly lower than a year ago.

Columbus: A continuing steady demand for factory and construction workers kept the supply of job seekers low, 200 less than a year ago.

Fremont: Active job applications increased 67 during the month, but count is 200 less than on November 1, 1956. Demand for non-farm workers was almost the same as September, but 30 per cent greater than a year ago.

Grand Island: Employment opportunities show some improvement this fall over last year. Unemployment this fall is around 200 less than it was the same time a year ago.

Hastings: Registered job seekers increased 35 per cent over September. Initial claims for unemployment tripled over the previous month and showed a 60 per cent increase from October, 1956. Placements increased to set a three-year record for the month.

Kearney: Lack of appreciable gain in labor supply indicates that seasonal employment had not tapered substantially by October 31. November 1 labor supply of 322 was 35 per cent below the number available one year ago.

Lincoln: Total employment remained near the year's peak during October as gains in trade failed to offset seasonal reduction in construction and agriculture resulting in a 300 loss.

McCook: Mild fall weather has permitted work on construction projects and other employment, thus delaying the usual fall increase in unemployment.

Nebraska City: Non-farm labor demand based on employers' orders exceeded October last year, but fell 68 below last month. A slight rise in total area labor supply occurred with women job seekers accounting for the increase.

North Platte: Job applicants for work increased from 124 in September to 221 in October. Non-farm labor demand decreased in October but compared favorably with a year ago; farm demand was much higher.

Omaha: The trend that has been establishing itself for nearly a year continued during October. Both new applications for work and total claims for benefits showed increases over September this year and October 1956. Labor demand continued to fall short of last year's record.

Scottsbluff: The demand for non-farm workers continued strong in October. The labor supply increased 16 per cent during October to 435, which is slightly higher than a year ago.

Kearney Escapees, Clad Only In Underwear, Are Captured

FREMONT, Neb. — Three boys who escaped from the State Industrial School at Kearney, wearing only their underwear despite 40 to 45 degree cold, surrendered to police Thursday after an eight-hour crime spree.

The three offered no resistance when stopped by Fremont police. All are 16 years of age.

Police Chief Robert Millard said the youths told him they escaped from the confinement cell at the Boys Training School in Kearney about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday.

At Kearney, the trio was reported to have broken a radiator and to have used the pipe to bend bars on the cell window. They escaped without shoes and wearing only their shorts.

Millard quoted them as saying they took a car in Kearney, one in Grand Island, another in Central City and two in Columbus. The first car taken in Columbus was abandoned when they said it was short on gas.

The police chief said a shotgun, taken from the first car at Columbus, was in their possession. The gun was not loaded, but shells were found in the car.

The youths told Millard they were trying to get to Omaha where they hoped to get some clothes. They were being held in Dodge County Jail at Fremont, pending arrival of authorities from Kearney.

Stanosheck Enters Not Guilty Plea

BEATRICE, Neb. — Patrick J. Stanosheck, 37, of Odell, pleaded not guilty in Gage County Court here to charges of grand larceny, and was bound over to the District Court for trial. Bond was set at $1,000 after Stanosheck waived preliminary hearing.

The Odell man is accused of rustling 11 head of cattle from the G. L. Richardson farm near Diller. One of the animals was found in Stanosheck's barn and the others at the St. Joseph, Mo., livestock yards.

Bartlett Elected

BEATRICE, Neb. — Claude Bartlett of Ellis has been elected president of the Gage County Fair Board succeeding Ed Podtburg of Beatrice. Verne Mulig of Beatrice was elected secretary and John Bauer Sr. of Beatrice, treasurer.

What's New in Lincoln. Illustrated feature stories in The "Sunday Journal and Star" keep you informed.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time . . . with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it from place to place. We aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

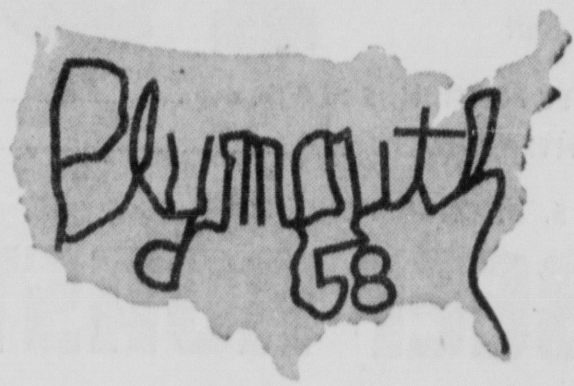

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country . . . passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes . . . creeping through city traffic . . . arrowing down super-highways . . . feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out — and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself — today? You'll see what we mean.

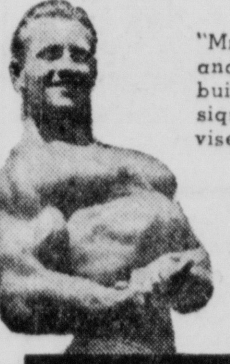

That's the Plymouth "track" . . . and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

Kimball School Issue Back To Voters

Action Taken After Threat Of Suit Contesting Validity

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—The Kimball School Board has decided to put to the voters a second time, the Kimball grade school bond issue. The election is set for Dec. 10. Board members said a suit has been threatened, contesting the validity of the election held last week. The question centered around the method used in counting the votes.

Nebraska News

A new statute passed by the last legislature stipulates that in school district bond elections, the votes shall be counted by the county clerk and two disinterested persons appointed by the clerk. The votes at the Nov. 5 election were counted by the election board. The following day, when the board learned of the new rule, the ballots were counted in the manner prescribed by the new law. The votes were 318 in favor of the bond issue and 218 opposed.

Board members said they felt a suit to contest the election would not be successful, but that it might delay construction of the needed addition to the Mary Lynch school by a year or more.

"A new bond election will remove all doubt as to the validity of the voters' decision and will be the quickest way of settling the issue," said N. L. Eastman, board president.

No 'Willful Intent' In Fatal Bellevue Crash, Jury Rules

BELLEVUE, Neb. (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled Thursday there was no "willful intent" in the "reckless driving" that led to the death Friday night of Gary Moravec, 18, of Bellevue.

After testimony was taken by the six-member coroner's jury and Sarpy County Attorney Dixon Adams, the county attorney said lesser charges might be filed against the driver of the car but "we will not file charges of motor vehicle homicide."

Moravec was killed when a 1931 model passenger car in which he was a passenger overturned on the Bellevue High School baseball field.

The car was driven by Delbert Pelton, 18, of Bellevue. Two other passengers in the car testified they were not alarmed by the manner in which Pelton was driving.

Six Nebraska Crops Chalking Up '57 Record Yields

Record shattering yields per acre are being recorded in Nebraska this year for at least six crops — corn, sorghums, winter wheat, barley, soybeans and alfalfa hay.

And the over-all bounty of the state's farm land now is expected to top the best previous crop year of 1952 by seven per cent, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Thursday.

Current estimates on aggregate 1957 crop production exceed the 1947-49 average by 28 per cent, and rate 80 per cent higher than last year's small harvest.

Gains Shown

The estimates showed gains for both corn and sorghum during October, with corn yield estimates hiked from 44 to 45 bushels per acre, and sorghum yield estimates raised from 36 to 39 bushels per acre.

"Later than usual frost-free weather permitted practically all of the vulnerable late corn and sorghum acreage to escape damage from killing frost," the division noted. "Thus, these crops made noticeable gains in October."

Total tonnage of the four feed grains — corn, oats, barley and sorghum — is now calculated at 9½ million tons, compared with a previous record of 9,400,000 tons in 1927. The production exceeds the 1946-55 average by 2½ million tons.

Hay tonnage is estimated at 8,300,000, the largest hay crop ever produced in the state.

Great Plains Foundation Is Urged At Meet

BILLINGS, Mont. (P)—A two-day Great Plains town and country conference ended with a recommendation the 1958 meeting be in Casper, Wyo., or Rapid City, S.D.

Delegates also suggested changing the name of the conference to "a protestant strategy for the northern great plains states."

Approximately 100 delegates attended from North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska.

Dr. Carl Karenzel, professor of rural sociology at Montana State College in Bozeman, advocated creation of a "Great Plains foundation."

He said a coordination of research, demonstration and testing activities in a government-sponsored agency within the Great Plains would eliminate what he called the present vacuum of industrial, federal, banking, labor and agricultural agencies in these states. He said it would produce a program specifically designed to solve problems peculiar to the great plains states.

Karenzel said the Bureau of Education and Welfare maintains offices in Denver, Dallas and Kansas City to handle affairs of the Great Plains and said varying procedures are applied to neighboring states as a result.

The same jurisdictional division is followed in the federal land bank program, he added.

B&O SAYS 12 TRAINS MUST GO

Railroad Cites
'Huge' Deficit

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, facing up to what it called "an enormous deficit in passenger operations," Thursday asked permission to scrap passenger service between Baltimore and New York.

The railroad announced it had filed a petition with the Public Service Commission of Maryland and similar authorities in Delaware and Pennsylvania for permission to discontinue a total of 14 passenger trains.

Twelve trains—six in each direction—operate daily between Baltimore, Wilmington, Philadelphia and New York City. The other two—one each way—operate from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

46% Decline

The number of passengers using the route has declined about 46 per cent since 1946, the railroad said.

It said through passenger train service between Baltimore, Washington and the West would be continued, as would commuter train service between Baltimore and Washington. No change would be made in freight service.

The railroad said "the general public has substantially abandoned its use of the trains for other modes of travel." It blamed this loss of patronage on "the large expenditures made in recent years by state and federal bodies for the improvement of highway and air travel paralleling the line of railroad involved."

Costs Heavier

The decline in patronage has been paralleled by a drastic increase in operating expenses, resulting in an out-of-pocket loss from passenger operations of many millions of dollars a year, the carrier said.

President Howard E. Simpson said the B&O "was first in the country with air-conditioned cars, diesel locomotives for passenger trains and trains of self-propelled diesel cars in long-distance service."

"Despite these and other merchandising features, a continuing decline in patronage, upward spiraling wages and increasingly higher prices for fuel and equipment combine to create an enormous deficit in passenger operation."

Rail Commission Appoints Hurlbut

The State Railway Commission has officially appointed Fred J. Hurlbut, 31, of Lincoln, as secretary of the Commission.

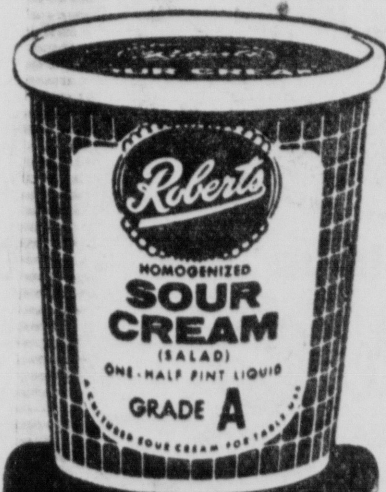

He has served as acting secretary since Jan. 3 of this year.

Hurlbut came to the Commission following his graduation in 1953 from the University of Nebraska College of Law. He started as an examiner for the Motor Transportation Division, and served as chief examiner prior to being named acting secretary.

His salary as secretary is $6,000 a year.

Fewer Spent More

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fewer tourists came to Mexico in September than in the same month a year ago but they spent more dollars, the Tourist Association reports. They numbered 38,733—a drop of 1,349—and spent $8,521,260, or $110,340 more than the September 1956, crop.

Clothing Drive For Foreign Distribution Again Set

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP) — The loading of three boxcars with used clothing for Lutheran World Relief is again being arranged for by the Great Plains clothing committee, organized here in 1951.

Clothing from seven routes in Nebraska and Kansas will be loaded on two cars at Hastings and one at North Platte. Collections of clothing will be made during Thanksgiving week.

The clothing will be sent to Europe, Palestine, Hong Kong and Korea. In addition to Lutherans contributing clothing, other individuals and churches have been invited to co-operate and bring clothing to various Lutheran churches of the area.

The clothes are to be distributed by Lutheran world relief agencies in various parts of the world. Churches co-operating in the drive are the national Lutheran council churches in America, churches in the Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod) and the Wisconsin Synod Lutheran churches.

The Great Plains clothing committee of central and western Nebraska, northern and central Kansas is the only one of the many committees throughout the country gathering clothing for Lutheran World Relief.

Following the organization of the Great Plains clothing committee in Holdrege in 1951, a truck load of 7,600 pounds of clothing was trucked into Omaha along U. S. Highway 6 starting at Holdrege. Last year 34,400 pounds of clothing was gathered from four routes in Nebraska and Kansas and were loaded on two boxcars at Hastings.

The Crosby resigned as Ocoma Head Due To Request

OMAHA (AP)—Fred K. Crosby of Omaha said he has resigned as president of Ocoma Foods Co. at the request of the parent company, Consolidated Foods Co., Chicago.

Crosby joined Ocoma in 1931 and became president in August of 1956.

He said his dismissal "came out of a blue sky" and "was quite a blow." Ocoma profits have been satisfactory, Crosby said.

Crosby said he was told that Henry Kohorn, a vice president of Consolidated, will be the new president of Ocoma.

Seneca Approves $40,000 Issue

SENECA, Neb. (AP) — District 6 school district voters at Seneca approved a $40,000 bond issue in a special election. The vote was 67-33.

The funds will be used to build a new elementary school to replace one which has been standing nearly 50 years. There are 125 voters in the district.

Driver, Safety Assn. Formed At Governor's Traffic Meet

A new organization, the Nebraska Driver and Safety Education Association, was formed Thursday as an outcome of the governor's traffic safety conference at the State Capitol Building.

President Rex Lutz, teacher of drivers-education at Beatrice High School, says that the association will have state-wide meetings, where drivers-education teachers will get together to talk over their problems. He said the purpose of the association will be to make better drivers by more informed and enthusiastic teachers.

Plans To Affiliate

The association intends to affiliate at their first meeting with the American Driver and Safety Education Association and the Nebraska State Education Association.

Gifford Mullins, president of the American Driver and Safety Education Association, was chief responsible for the organization of the association.

Other officers are: vice-president, R. L. Startzer, drivers-education teacher at Bellvue High School; secretary, John E. Boyer, drivers-education teacher at York High School; and treasurer, Raymond W. Munoz, drivers-education teacher at Fairbury High School.

Conference Scheduled

Governor Victor E. Anderson scheduled the traffic safety conference in cooperation with the Nebraska Traffic Safety Foundation. Guest speakers were L. S. Harris, executive director of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators; M. R. Darlington, Jr., managing director of the Interstate Highway Safety Committee; Robert Marshall, president of the American Driver and Safety Education Association; and Gifford Mullins, director of the Nebraska Traffic Safety Foundation.

Safety Report

Gov. Anderson opened the conference with a report on the Nebraska safety situation.

Robert Marshall spoke on "Driver Education and its Future." He stated, "Driver education, I believe, is an integral part of the school curriculum." He expressed the opinion that driver-education teaches students citizenship as well as teaching them to obey the traffic laws and regulations.

Gifford Mullins spoke on "Time for Decision." He said that the complacency in the public opinion of the traffic problem must be removed, and that the Nebraska Traffic Safety Foundation is doing this.

The Foundation intends to expand the driver-education program in Nebraska and will sponsor a state-wide public opinion poll leading to future traffic safety legislation.

Test Is Nixed For Accused Ex-Nebraskan

... Held For Murder

IOWA CITY (AP)—A motion for immediate psychiatric examination of murder defendant Marvin Glen Biggerstaff was overruled Thursday by Police Judge Roger H. Ivie. Biggerstaff is being held without bond in the fatal shooting early Wednesday of his estranged wife, Donna Belle, 24. The couple separated recently and Mrs. Biggerstaff filed a divorce suit Oct. 26.

William H. Bartley, attorney for Biggerstaff, sought a psychiatric examination of his client prior to a preliminary hearing scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday.

Judge Ivie ruled such an examination was "not germane to the purpose of a preliminary arraignment."

County Attorney William M. Tucker said the case would be given to the grand jury next week.

Mrs. Biggerstaff died of an abdominal bullet wound. Police arrested Biggerstaff in his wife's apartment. They said he had a pistol in his hand when they arrested him.

The couple formerly lived in Sioux City. Biggerstaff is a native of Newcastle, Neb.

Funeral services for Mrs. Biggerstaff will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the East Union Mennonite Church near Kalona.

The couple's two sons, Marvin Willis, 6, and William Gene, 3, are in the care of their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jay Miller of Frytown.

Special Appeal For Blood Donors Issued By Owens

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Chairman William Owens of the Red Cross blood committee has issued a special appeal for volunteer blood donors Nov. 20-21.

"This is a period of emergency to build up the supply of free blood to be available when it is needed," he said.

He directed his appeal to farm families and residents of all towns in Lincoln County to come to North Platte by the carload when the Bloodmobile arrives, Nov. 20 and 21.

Western Drilling Outlook Brightens

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Oil drilling operations, after a rash of dry holes, took a brighter note this week with reports of discovery wells in Kimball, Banner and Bannock counties.

Shoreline petroleum ran casing on its Hyson No. 2 well, seven miles south of Kimball. The firm declined to give out information on the well.

Banner County's discovery was the Edwards No. 1, drilled by Petroleum, Inc., near Lover's Leap. It was a JA sand discovery, offsetting a D sand discovery drilled about a year ago.

Meanwhile, eight tests in Kimball County, four of them wildcats, were plugged as dry holes, while locations were announced for eight wells, two of them wildcats.

In Banner County, the week also saw three other producers—by U.S. Smelting and Refining in the McDaniels Field, Pan American Petroleum in the Cross Field and Marion Oil and Wytex Oil in the Selover Field.

Only one new location was announced in Banner County during the week.

Nebraska Pipeline Taxes Said Among Highest In Midwest

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska taxes assessed against pipeline companies were described as among the highest in the midwest in testimony before the Legislative Tax Investigation Committee Thursday.

Leon Seck of Kansas City, Mo., tax attorney for the Great Lakes Pipeline Co., said Nebraska was second highest of 10 states in assessments against six-inch and eight-inch pipelines, and third highest in taxing 12-inch pipelines.

Seck also told the committee of difficulties in taxing Great Lakes properties at Carter Lake, on the Nebraska-Iowa border line, and in the words of Chairman Sen. Terry Carpenter "threw the committee into utter confusion" trying to untangle the snarl of which installations were in Nebraska and which were in Iowa.

As the result of shifting boundaries, Seck explained, the company has "a tank and a half in Nebraska."

The attorney said there was the problem of determining what part of the firm's shipments came under Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction, and what part came under Nebraska and Iowa tax laws.

Not Anticipated

Carpenter said this was a problem he had not anticipated and suggested the "matter ought to be pursued to establish a definite boundary line between the states."

The 1957 Legislature passed a bill to appoint a commission of Nebraskaans to meet jointly with an Iowa commission to establish a new boundary line between the two states.

Monte Gwynn of Fort Worth, Tex., tax official for the Champlin Oil Refinery and Pipeline Co., explained the taxing policy on bulk plants has been to set the assessments on a lifetime basis.

Gwynn said this results in the assessments being "a little low in the beginning and a little high in later years."

Carpenter said this was directly opposed to what is set out in the Nebraska constitution which provides that property shall be assessed at its actual value.

Would 'Go Along'

Gwynn told Carpenter he believed his company would "go along with anything set up on a state-wide basis, provided, of course, we weren't over-assessed." He added that it is "always desirable to have equalization."

The committee chairman asked Gwynn if he thought state and federal taxes should be included when considering actual value for assessment purposes, and Gwynn replied that he did not.

This prompted Carpenter to state that in his opinion it should be "because tax is a large part of the cost" and if it's omitted "you get into the area of diminishing returns."

Representatives of two lumber firms appeared before the committee Thursday morning and testimony from one of them produced the sharpest words yet heard in this week's hearings.

Objection Voted

Sen. Carpenter voiced strong objection to the manner in which William Richards, general manager and secretary of the Johnson-Cashway Lumber Co. of Omaha, had filled out the company's tax returns.

Richards said he listed the firm's basic value at $152,208 which represents 70 per cent of actual value, and that these figures came off the firm's book value as reported on its federal income tax returns.

Carpenter asked Richards how he had arrived at the basic value figure and why he had not filled in the information required on the tax forms to substantiate the figure.

The lumber representative said he did not report all the figures from their books because tax returns are public information and that they did not want their competitors to have access to their reports.

'New Approach'

Carpenter said this was "a new approach to interpretation of tax returns" and charged Richards with being "arbitrary to the point that you'll do it the way you want to do it."

Richards said, "I haven't reported these figures as they came off my books and I don't know of anyone who has."

Carpenter asked Richards to let him know within ten days whether he would give the committee access to its internal revenue records, or whether they would have to get them themselves.

Robert Andersen of Omaha, attorney for the Chicago Lumber Co., a Nebraska corporation, said that such corporations were under a hardship because their federal tax returns were readily available to the committee's scrutiny, where foreign corporations were not.

Carpenter replied he believed many of the state's county assessors were not qualified for their jobs and showed little initiative in putting their hands on federal returns filed by state corporations. The committee is scheduled to hear tax methods Friday of some of the major chain stores doing business in Nebraska.

200 Want Vote On City Managership

LEXINGTON, Neb. — More than 200 names are included in petitions which have been filed asking for an election to determine the future of Lexington's city manager form of government.

The petitions have been turned over to the city clerk.

The law requires that the total of valid signatures on the petitions be equal to at least 20 per cent of the number of votes in the last general election in the city.

Only about 95 signatures are necessary to meet that requirement. The law requires the city council to set an election date within 30 days.

Lexington has had a city manager for about 15 years.

MILLER AIDE DID NOT MAIL 800 LETTERS

WASHINGTON — Rep. Miller (R-Neb) said Thursday, he has uncovered 800 to 1,000 letters which his former secretary failed to answer.

They were found, he said, in a secret compartment next to the desk of Miss Marie Warme, 38. She was fired by the congressman after being charged with making out and cashing paychecks for other former employees in his office.

The checks totaled around $2,000. Miss Warme pleaded guilty to forgery and is free under $1,000 bond pending sentence.

Miller said most of the letters were written this year but some dated back to 1956.

"Some replies had been dictated and I had signed them but they were never mailed," he said.

The congressman said Miss Warme, his secretary for 13 years, had failed to open some registered mail. He said he's trying to answer all of the letters involved.
